Russians Advance Slowly

Pressing Battle to Encircle Frankfurt

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP).—The Soviet Ukraine First Army, driving to the juncture of the Neisse and Oder Rivers 54 miles southeast of Berlin, by-passed the stubborn German stronghold of Guben today while the White Russian First Army was reported pressing a great battle for encirclement of Frankfurt, 21 miles farther north.

In East Prussia the Russians acknowledged some advances by the Germans trying to reach the port of Pillau, but at a cost of 60 enemy tanks in a day.

Moscow's nightly communique indicated that the 1st Ukraine forces of Marshal Ivan S. Konev had made little progress in the struggle through the forest eight miles east of Guben, but announced capture of 30 populated places north and south of that point in advances of seven to 15 miles on a fiery 50-mile-long front.

Places taken included Kuschern, on the Neisse at its confluence with the Oder, and the city of Pfoerten, 10 miles south of Guben and six miles northeast of Forst. The city stronghold of Preibus and the town of Leippa, both on the Neisse's east bank, 23 and 27 miles southeast of Guben, also were captured.

Moscow was officially silent concerning operations of the 1st White Russian forces of Marshal G. K. Zhukov directly east of Berlin, but Pravda, Communist Party paper, said the Red Army now stood but 54 miles from the German capital, and the German radio announced that Zhukov had "temporarily"

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and, published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1945, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Feb. 21. The fact that Premier Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden met the Syrian president during their Egyptian visit, says The Times' diplomatic correspondent, indicates that the differences between France and Levant Republics came under review.

In both Syria and Lebanon there is much agitation over what is represented as French failure to give effect to the pledge to grant full independence and sovereignty to these republics.

Broadly, the French reply is that independence and sovereignty are bound up with negotiations for a treaty regulating relations between France and the Levant States and that such a treaty has yet to be negotiated.

It is likely enough, says The Times, there has been stubbornness on both sides and it is probable any advice tendered by British and United States Governments has been that both parties should get together and make peace on a basis of full independence of Lebanon and Syria with safeguards for France without prejudice to other countries.

Until such a settlement has been reached there is little chance in the French view for negotiations for a new Anglo-French alliance.

Meetings between Premier Churchill and President Roosevelt with Ibn Saud and the King of Saudi Arabia have aroused great expectations throughout the Arab world, says The Times Cairo correspondent. Important announcements are expected in a few days. It is clear Ibn Saud and the Emperor of Ethiopia did not leave their realms to meet the "Big Two" without extremely important reasons.

It is believed in Cairo much has been done to avoid the mistakes made in the Middle East by the Allies after the last war. Editorially The Times says that hitherto Britain and France intended to deal separately with the Middle Eastern countries and to forget the fundamentals of the Arab world.

Now the United States and the Soviet Union have joined as trustees of this huge area and intervened in Persia as well. Formation of an

40,000 U.S. Marines in Stiffening Battle on Iwo

Third Division Landed—No Appreciable Gains Made as Jap Resistance Increases

GUAM, Feb. 22 (Thursday) (AP).—Japanese resistance on Iwo increased to such an extent Wednesday afternoon that no appreciable gains were achieved by the United States Marines, now reinforced by the landing of a third division on the island, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

The 3rd Marine Division, under Maj.-Gen. Graves B. Erskine, reinforced the Fourth Division under Maj.-Gen. Clinton B. Cates and the Fifth under Maj.-Gen. Keller E. Rockey.

Thus approximately 40,000 marines may have been committed to an operation against Japanese estimated in today's communique to have totaled 20,000 when the island was invaded Monday.

The marines, having captured their main objective, the big Motoyama bomber airfield No. 1 Tuesday, were checked during an enveloping drive toward the island's other airfield to the north.

"Intense mortar, artillery and small arms fire is being encountered by our troops and in some areas extensive mine fields are slowing the advance," Admiral Nimitz, Pacific Ocean areas commander, said.

"During the afternoon (Wednesday) there was no appreciable change in our lines," a communique reported.

"On the south flame-throwers and tanks are being used against well-entrenched enemy troops in the Mount Suribachi area." It added: "A counter-attack launched by the enemy east of Mount Suribachi shortly after noon was thrown back. Numerous land mines have been encountered in this vicinity. Four of our tanks were knocked out of action."

No Japanese Left on Bataan

Corregidor Garrison Virtually Destroyed

MANILA, Feb. 22 (Thursday) (AP).—Not a living Japanese soldier is left on Bataan and the enemy garrison on Corregidor fortress has been "practically destroyed," an Allied communique announced today.

It said the enemy garrison in South Manila was compressed into an area measuring about 700 yards by 500 within the ancient Intramuros and the destruction of this force has been slow only because of the American desire to save the lives of civilians inside the walled city.

The Japanese on Bataan were estimated several thousand strong when the Americans invaded the southern shore just a week ago to form a death vise in conjunction with a strong American force moving down from the north.

On Corregidor, invaded last Friday, the communique said more than 1,700 Japanese dead already had been buried and the count was only partially complete. The main tunnel has been blocked at both ends by explosives.

The communique described the Japanese within South Manila's mediaeval Intramuros as resisting with "savage barbarism . . . seldom displayed in a more repulsive form."

Howitzers and cannon are attempting to breach the outer wall of this mediaeval citadel to make an entrance for tanks and infantrymen seeking to clean up this final enemy strongpoint in the Philippine capital and liberate an estimated 7,000 civilians held as virtual hostages.

No Settlement on Arab Federation

LONDON, Feb. 21 (Reuters).—There was no settlement or even loose agreement on an Arab Federation or about the future of Palestine at the various Egyptian conversations of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt. This is the definite opinion in London diplomatic circles tonight.

It is believed the subject of a Middle East settlement was discussed at Yalta and agreement was reached there that the solution would have to be considered by the representatives of the Big Four—that is, including France. What took place in Egypt was more in the nature of formal visits expressing mutual goodwill spiced here and there with a sprinkling of advice.

$33,743,000 IN GIFTS

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP).—Last year free gifts and donations sent by Canadians to their friends in other countries had an aggregate declared value of $33,743,000, nearly half of which—$16,032,000—was consigned to Switzerland, presumably representing gifts and donations for Canadian prisoners of war in Germany, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

BULLETINS

NEW NIGHT RAIDS

LONDON, Feb. 22 (Thursday) (CP).—A force of 1,100 R.A.F. bombers ranged over Germany last night, blasting the Western Front communications centres of Worms and Duisburg and hitting Berlin twice, the Air Ministry announced today.

BLOW SELVES UP

MANILA, Feb. 22 (Thursday) (AP).—Japanese hopelessly sealed in Corregidor's network of tunnels blew themselves up by touching off a main ammunition dump yesterday as American forces tightened the squeeze on the remaining enemy garrison there and also in Manila, where the Americans captured the Manila Hotel, one of the luxury spots of the Orient.

Lacked Details Of Yalta Parley

Explanation Offered Of De Gaulle Action

PARIS, Feb. 21 (AP).—Gen. De Gaulle was unable to meet President Roosevelt at Algiers because the French Government lacked detailed information on the Yalta conference which it considered necessary for any decisions, Information Minister Pierre Teitgen announced today.

The meeting at Algiers would have entailed "grave decisions on essential matters engaging the nation's future," Teitgen told a press conference.

Gen. De Gaulle could not have participated in such a meeting unless he possessed details on the decisions the "Big Three" made at Yalta and had studied them thoroughly with the aid of a staff of experts, the Information Minister asserted.

The United States Embassy reported today that President Roosevelt had planned to hold a quick "business session" with Gen. De Gaulle on a ship somewhere off the coast near Algiers to inform France of details of the Crimea conference and to obviate lengthy diplomatic correspondence.

The President's intention, it added, had been to return to Washington as soon as possible and to make a ceremonious state visit to France and Britain in the Spring after the United Nations meeting at San Francisco.

TRAITORS EXECUTED

BRUSSELS, Feb. 21 (Reuters).—Five Belgian traitors have been executed in Antwerp, it was announced today.

Discover Wreckage Of Lost Bomber

DARTMOUTH, N.S., Feb. 21 (CP).—Pieces of wreckage from a multi-engined Royal Canadian Air Force bomber missing since Monday from the air base here have been found floating in the Atlantic, R.C.A.F. officials said tonight, and faint hope is held for the lives of the seven-man crew of the aircraft.

Members of the crew were the pilot, Flt. Lt. Deryck Hogan, of Rockingham, N.S.; Flt. Lt. G. F. R. Apps, of Cannington, Ont.; Flt. Lt. F. C. Orland, of Edmonton, Alta.; P.O. D. Murphy, of Eastern Passage, N.S.; W.O.1 H. I. Teasdale, of Edmonton; Flt. Sgt. W. R. Grant, of Saskatoon, Sask., and Flt. Sgt. A. A. MacClellan, of Edgerton, N.S.

Churchill May Demand New Vote of Confidence

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP).—A cry of "power politics" and a charge that the Atlantic Charter was violated in the "Big Three's" treatment of the Polish issue were raised in the House of Commons today amid reports Prime Minister Churchill would demand a confidence vote next week in connection with the Crimea conference decisions.

Mr. Churchill told the House that the "Atlantic Charter" is a guide, not a rule."

He made this statement in reply to a query from Maurice Petherick (Conservative) on whether article two of the Charter applied to Poland, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia. That article records the powers as desiring to see no territorial changes not in accord with the wishes of the people concerned.

Mr. Churchill is scheduled to give a first-hand report in Commons next Tuesday and Wednesday on the Crimea conference.

Shifting to Anglo-French relations, a Labor member asked whether Mr. Churchill's dramatic offer in 1940 to the French for a union of the two peoples had been repeated recently.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, replying for the Government, said it had not been renewed.

He was then asked whether the time had arrived when it is possible to make a fresh approach or are [illegible] circum-

Expect News On Election In Few Days

Prime Minister to Make Announcement

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP).—An important, but not necessarily decisive, political announcement is expected from Prime Minister Mackenzie King within the next three days.

It will relate to the holding of a session of Parliament and the timing of a general election. From a usually well-informed source, The Canadian Press learned today that the most probable date for the election is June 11.

There still is doubt as to whether the 19th Parliament will meet again to pass money appropriations for the new fiscal year beginning April 1, and it was learned today that no discussions in Cabinet have taken place with a view to preparing for a session.

Since the Grey North by-election on February 5, following which Mr. King said the Government would give consideration to whether a further meeting of the present Parliament would serve a useful purpose, the Cabinet has held its regular meetings—full Cabinet on Tuesdays and Thursdays and War Committee of the Cabinet on Wednesday.

Tomorrow's meeting may be significant in that any proposals the Prime Minister has to take up with the Cabinet prior to a proclamation relating to the summoning of Parliament may be discussed.

Parliament stands prorogued until February 28, but a proclamation calling it to meet on that date for the "dispatch of business" or postponing the meeting until a later date is expected some time this week so that members who must come from a long distance will be able to make preparations.

The possibility that Parliament may be dissolved without a further session is still kept in the forefront

Gripsholm Back With Canadians

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Feb. 21 (CP).—The exchange ship Gripsholm brought home more Canadians and Americans today—soldiers and merchant seamen from German prison camps and bewildered civilians, including 75 children—for whom America was a refuge from war.

There were 78 Canadians aboard, including 51 men of the Canadian army, 25 of the R.C.A.F. and two members of the Canadian Merchant Marine.

The Canadians were to be placed aboard a sealed train en route to the Dominion. Newspapermen were not permitted on the pier and it was not possible to interview the returning Canadian servicemen.

The Canadians were greeted by a delegation of Government officials including Group Capt. Hartland Molson of Montreal, representing the R.C.A.F., and Maj.-Gen. H. A. Young, quartermaster-general of the Canadian army.

The names of the 78 returning Canadians were announced at Ottawa on February 15.

Canadian Army Sets German Forest Afire To Clear Out Enemy

Initiative Regained and Line Now Firm—Americans Fight Into Saarburg Fortress

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, Feb. 21 (CP).—A Canadian-made forest fire, compounded of the chemicals that go into flame-throwers and given explosive force by armor and fighter-plane support, swept into Moyland Forest today as Western infantry drove the Germans from that wooded bulwark two miles northwest of Calcar.

In the shelter of those woods, which extend almost to Calcar, 250 German paratroopers had made a fight-to-the-death stand since Friday, aided by natural defences and protected dugouts. Although the Canadians managed to penetrate the northern edge last week, the Germans held them at bay in the toughest fighting faced by the Dominion troops since the Canadian First Army offensive started on February 8.

Today, however, with fine weather permitting air support, the embattled Westerners struck in the morning with flame-throwers. Those Germans that still lived after the searing fire and hail of lead were pushed back toward Calcar.

Resistance was generally less than expected, although opposition was sticky for companies advancing against high ground on the left flank.

Fire from the flame-throwers, which burned out paratroops who clung to the trenches, and bullets from tanks and Typhoons proved too much for the enemy.

Some were taken prisoner but more were killed because those who tried to retreat through the forest floundered into artillery fire and strafing from rocket-firing Typhoons, while those who sought safety across open ground to the south ran into the cross-fire from machine guns of another Western regiment.

Because of this advance and improvement elsewhere, the picture along the Canadian sector of the front this 14th day of the offensive was brighter than yesterday. A counter-attack launched yesterday afternoon against Germans who penetrated Canadian positions along the road from Calcar to Goch, seven miles southwest of Calcar, regained lost ground and the Canadian line

Enemy Rail Lines Again Are Blasted

5,000 Planes in Day Of Attacks on Reich

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP).—The massive aerial assault against Germany's battered rail system was continued tonight with a heavy R.A.F. attack on the Rhine Valley choke point of Worms, after 1,200 American heavies smashed Nuernberg in daylight for the second straight day.

Berlin also was hit twice tonight by British bombers which kept the nine-day aerial offensive rolling through the darkness. Altogether more than 5,000 Allied planes joined in the day's attack on Germany, many of them giving close support to Western Front troops.

Worms, 15 miles north of Mannheim, is a keypoint in the communications system supplying the enemy forces in front of the attacking United States Third Army.

In the big daylight raid the Nazi convention city of Nuernberg, which some unconfirmed reports have said now has supplanted Berlin as the German capital, was battered for more than an hour by the American four-engined bombers.

Today's raids followed widespread R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. attacks Tuesday when 1,200 bombers hit Dortmund and two oil refineries south of Duesseldorf, while Berlin was hit twice by separate forces of Mosquitos, and objectives in Mannheim were struck by an all-Canadian bomber force.

Today also, the Bavarian town of Berchtesgaden, where Hitler has his fortified hideout, was attacked by Italian-based rocket-firing fighter-bombers which made a daring low-level strike at its railway yards.

British Tanks in Battle of Myinmu

KANDY, Ceylon, Feb. 21 (CP).—British tank reinforcements have joined the battle in the Myinmu sector 35 miles southwest of Mandalay, and have helped Indian troops advance to a point four miles south of their original bridgehead across the Irrawaddy River there, Allied headquarters announced today.

Driving inland against stiff Japanese resistance, the British Empire forces captured the village of Gaungbyo, four miles south of Myinmu, and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy in repulsing a series of counter-attacks.

"Satisfactory" Allied progress was reported from the Singu bridgehead across the Irrawaddy 40 miles north of Mandalay, where two enemy counter-attacks were repulsed.

SENTENCED TO DIE

PARIS, Feb. 21 (Reuters).—The Paris Court of Justice today sentenced to death Andree de Messine, head of the propaganda service for the Legion of French Volunteers Against Bolshevism. This body was recruited by Vichy to fight with the Germans against Russia. De Messines himself took part in the Russian campaign and was awarded the Iron Cross.

Raiders Blast Berchtesgaden

Rockets Used on Rail Lines and Trains

ROME, Feb. 21 (AP).—Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat, Berchtesgaden, well within Germany's "inner fortress," has been subjected to its first air attack of the war, it was announced today as heavy bombers of the United States 15th Air Force completed their ninth consecutive day of attacks on enemy communications in Southern Europe.

Rocket-firing fighter-bombers made the smash at Berchtesgaden, the Fuehrer's hideout in the Bavarian Alps.

Sweeping in from their Italian bases, they pumped their rockets from low levels at rail tracks, cars and locomotives and other targets in and near the town of Berchtesgaden after they found impossible flying conditions over the primary assigned target.

The original target, although it was not announced, might have been the main Udine-Tarvisio-Salzburg railroad, which passes about five miles east of Berchtesgaden.

The town itself would be of real importance as an air target only if it were being used by the Nazis in building up the inner Bavarian citadel for prolonging the war. It has been among the spots mentioned in foreign reports as a possible last-ditch refuge for top-flight Nazis after Berlin falls.

Hitler's strongly guarded residence is at the edge of Berchtesgaden on Obersalzberg (Upper Salt Mountain) and other high Nazis have homes in the neighborhood.

There was no official comment on the raid, but one Air Force officer observed that since Berchtesgaden was known as Hitler's retreat, "one guess is as good as another" as to what the railroad cars hit by the raiders might have contained.

The announcement of the raid

Soviet Magazine Critical Of American Newswriters

MOSCOW, Feb. 21 (AP).—The magazine War and The Working Class characterized as a myth today various reports in the foreign press that Russia planned to use captured German generals as the nucleus of a new German Government.

Naming a number of foreign correspondents and writers who it said had contributed to a flood of poisoned rumor, the magazine, which has come to be regarded as an authoritative reflector of official Soviet policy, declared:

"From nothing has been erected a structure of lies. It should be known that the Soviet Union, much more than any other country, has suffered from German aggression and has invested the greatest share in the cause of Hitler's defeat and is anxious to obtain a solution of the German problem making a revival of German aggression impossible.

"Participants in the collective creation of the myth that Russia planned a provisional German government founded on the Free German Committee in Moscow and the Union of German Officers in the Soviet Union found common ground in prejudice against the Soviet Union," the magazine charged.

"This is behind the readiness of George Axelson, of The New York Times; Dorothy Thompson, Constantine Brown and other 'European experts' to imagine and spread all kinds of tales about Soviet policy and the readiness of many editors to publish these tales without a twinge of conscience."

The magazine applied the term "poison rumor" to a dispatch which it said had been written by Harold Callender of The New York Times Paris bureau, which quoted diplomatic circles as saying the Soviet Union was holding Field Marshal Friedrich Von Paulus, captured at Stalingrad, in reserve for a Soviet-sponsored puppet German government.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP).—Dorothy Thompson, New York columnist, and The Baltimore Sun said tonight that articles they wrote saying Russia planned a provisional German government founded on the Free German Committee in Moscow and the Union of German Officers in the Soviet Union were based on the committee's own statements.

Benes Offers Thanks to British Isles

LONDON, Feb. 21 (Reuters).—Britons were assured tonight by President Benes of Czecho-Slovakia that the Czechs would "never abandon their democratic way of life."

In a farewell broadcast to "these unconquerable Isles," the president, who will leave soon for a homeland he has not seen for six years, thanked the British people for their trust in allowing the Czechs to plan their liberation in their own way and added "we shall never forget what you have done."

"We, in return, have tried our best to give you and your Government as little trouble, politically or otherwise, as possible," he said.

Remarking that it was for the Czecho-Slovak people to decide whether their London Government had fulfilled its mission, Dr. Benes said: "Of one thing I am profoundly convinced. My people will never abandon their democratic way of life. Their own bitter experience has taught them that government, when divorced from the governed, becomes tyranny."

Earlier Dr. Benes, who will leave with his Foreign Minister, Jan Masaryk, confirmed his intention of forming a new government based on the political parties of the Czecho-Slovak resistance movement.

Condition of Lloyd George Is Improved

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP).—Earl Lloyd George, ill at his home in North Wales, was reported "comfortable" tonight and reporters at his home at Llanystumdwy were told there was a possibility further bulletins might not be issued as the condition of the 82-year-old former Prime Minister might not warrant it.

Earl Lloyd George, Britain's Prime Minister in the First Great War, sat up briefly during the day, looking out across Cardigan Bay through the bay windows of his bedroom. He is attended only by his family doctor and his wife.

Electric Power Bill Is Introduced by Premier

The British Columbia electric power bill, introduced in the Legislature yesterday by Premier John Hart, aims at a "financially self-sustaining electric utility with the object of providing power at actual cost to consumers somewhat along [illegible] of Ontario since 1906," and basically similar to the plans adopted by Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Quebec.

Administration and management of the business will be in the hands of a commission of three men, "whose one and only duty will be to supply power in accord with the provisions of the act."

The announced purpose is to improve availability and supply of electrical power at rates to permit industry and commerce to compete on more nearly equal terms with other provinces, and to bring improved living conditions to homes by low cost electrical service, particularly in smaller towns and rural areas.

Adoption of the general principles successful in Ontario, with modifications to suit conditions in this province, is proposed.

The bill would give the commission power, subject to approval by the Government by order in council, to acquire, construct and operate power plants, and to expropriate real and personal property required for its purpose, including power plants, power projects and power sites with the exception of municipal plants or distribution systems. All undertakings including acquisitions of property and new construction, must be approved by the Government as capital will be advanced by the Government.

General powers of the commission will include such "corporate powers" as are necessary to carry on its operations in a business-like manner.

TO SUPPLY POWER TO MUNICIPALITIES

Provision will be made for the commission to supply power at wholesale rates to municipalities which may desire to carry on their own distribution. It may also supply power directly to consumers through "power districts" laid out or designed by the commission. In the latter case, for accounting purposes, the commission will deliver power to a defined district in the same manner as to municipalities, charging the district the wholesale rate and charging consumers within the district the retail rate.

It is also proposed that the commission have power to supply electricity to any distributing company or other persons, so that industries and others may obtain electricity if it is not available from existing utilities.

Part 3 of the bill deals with distribution of power by municipalities buying it wholesale from the commission. When an application is made by a municipality, it is proposed, the commission will make necessary surveys and investigations and report its findings to the municipality. If the municipality desires, the commission will build the necessary distribution system and operate it, supplying power to consumers at actual cost, or it may buy the power wholesale and handle distribution itself.

"Actual cost" will include wholesale cost of power, in addition to all expenses in the district, interest on investment in the distribution system, reserves for all reasonable purposes and sinking fund to amortize the investment in 40 years.

Part Four of the bill provides for establishment of power districts in which the commission will sell direct to the consumer. Each power district will be operated as a financially self-sustaining unit.

MUNICIPALITIES MAY TAKE UP DISTRIBUTION

What is described as an important policy feature of the bill is contained in this section, in making provision [illegible] districts to take over distribution after sinking fund equivalent to 20 per cent of capital investment has been built up. It is explained that this recognizes the interest of municipalities in their own electrical services and also recognizes the difficulties they face in organizing and financing them.

The section provides that the commission may perform the pioneer work on behalf of municipalities and when the distribution system is established on a sound basis the municipality may acquire the system at net cost. While the system is operated by the commission the municipalities will receive taxes on land owned by the commission as well as 3 per cent of the gross revenue from sale of power.

Total sum authorized in the bill for commission operation is $10,000,000. It was indicated that as the undertaking developed and was demonstrated to be on a sound financial basis, the Legislature might be asked to increase this figure to take care of future expansion.

Since the Government will provide the capital needed to acquire or build plants, approval of the Government must be obtained for all capital projects.

The commission will be required to pay out of its revenues, from the sale of power, all operating and administration expense. It will be required to pay to the Treasury annually the interest and financing costs on all advances, and sinking funds sufficient to amortize all advances in 40 years from the date of the advances.

TO PAY MUNICIPAL AND SCHOOL TAXES

It is provided that the commission will pay municipal and school taxes on all land owned by it, but not on improvements. In place of paying taxes on improvements the commission will pay municipalities 3 per cent of the gross revenue in municipalities. Where electric companies are taken over, the commission will pay municipal and provincial taxes not less than the amount paid by the companies in 1944.

Since Dominion income taxes will not apply to a provincially-owned venture, consumers will be on equal terms with most other provinces.

Methods under which existing plants may be taken over are set out in Part Seven of the act. In the case of small undertakings, it is possible the commission and owner may negotiate a price that obtains the approval of the Government. But if an agreement cannot be reached the property may be expropriated and price may be determined by independent valuators, or a valuator appointed by the Government.

Provision is made for appeal from a valuator's decision.

If an owner claims over $300,000 the price to be paid cannot be negotiated but must be determined by the process of valuation.

In the concluding section of the bill, dealing with general matters, provision is made for the Government to contribute up to 50 per cent of the cost of rural lines built by the commission where there are not sufficient consumers to provide revenue equal to the cost of service.

General Election

of possibility, although it raises the question of meeting the financial requirements of the country on Governor-General's warrants, unbacked by parliamentary sanction, for a period of some months.

While a minimum of 60 days is considered necessary by electoral officials to arrange for and hold a general election, at the special committee which studied means of taking the overseas vote last session, Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, said he would like to have 80 days.

That almost rules out the prospect of an April election being brought about by an immediate dissolution of Parliament.

Without an immediate dissolution, an election scheduled for early May would conflict with the Victory Loan Campaign, of considerable importance to the Government's financial program and the World Security Conference scheduled to open at San Francisco on April 25.

diaries dropped on Nuernberg in 24 hours approached 4,500 tons.

Bomber crews reported intense flak.

As the assault against Germany went on, the tempo was stepped up to an average of 100 Allied bombers an hour over the Reich during the last 24-hour period.

Dortmund, centre of communications for Germans on the Western Front and the main target for last night's raiders was left blazing. The R.A.F. reported the loss of 20 planes including five Canadian from the night's widespread operations in which all squadrons of the Canadian Bomber Group participated.

Canadian airmen reported several explosions at Mannheim and said fires set at Dortmund could be seen 50 miles away.

Bombing was described as accurate but the raiders reported many encounters with night-fighters.

Among flyers reporting attacks by enemy fighters at Dortmund—all of which were beaten off successfully although there were no claims of fighters destroyed—was P.O. Jack Vernon, Winnipeg, Moose Squadron.

Berlin in Fearsome Calm Awaiting Russian Assault

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP). — Electric power now is cut off throughout Berlin for several hours a day, and its women, both rich and poor, have been impressed into building street barricades, reports from the German capital said today.

"A spirit of innate fatalism pervades the capital," the German agency Transocean broadcast as the city awaited a great frontal assault from Soviet armies fighting little more than 30 miles away.

"The present calm is fearsome," said Radio Commentator Dr. Joseph Saal. "The coming weeks will be decisive and every German must defend his existence at the barricades. Greater sacrifices will be required than any ever borne by any nation."

Frankfurt on the Oder, 38 miles to the east, already was under assault. With the bulk of its 80,000 civilians evacuated, this city was making a stand to the death to delay the big push on the capital.

The Moscow radio reported new riots inside Germany, including a hunger march by hundreds of refugees in Stassfurt, south of Magdeburg. The report said the marchers stormed a food store and the regular army intervened when S.S. Elite Guards attempted to fire on the mob.

Moscow also told of disorders in Munich which were said to have developed into pitched street battles with tank-supported S.S. units intervening after the city police refused to fire on civilian crowds.

"The police had to be disarmed and many were sent to the Dachau Concentration Camp for refusing to shoot," said a German language broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Grim news for the Germans came tonight from the Berlin radio which announced a 12½ per cent cut in food rations.

Western Front

now is firm, indicative of the fierce opposition facing the Canadians, the enemy had been able to mount their counter-attacks, some with huge Tiger tanks, despite aerial pounding of his communications.

Meanwhile the Germans, who apparently decided to anchor the eastern end of their front on the line from Calcar to Uedem, five and one-half miles to the southwest, still have the advantage of high ground. They have fortified it, moreover, with some of their best troops and armor. But after 40 hours of counter-attacks with battle groups of two or three tanks and 40 to 50 men, the pace of their aggressive defence has slackened.

ENEMY FAILS TO BREAK LINE

Confused fighting during the hours of darkness Monday night involving, on the Canadian side, Central Canadian troops, gained the Germans some ground, since lost, but the enemy did not break the Canadian line.

The Nazis overran the line in some places on the right flank and encircled a battalion headquarters which was relieved after many tense hours.

Under such conditions there were casualties on both sides. The Germans paid a high price in armor for their bold, unusual use of it at night, losing at least nine tanks and self-propelled guns, including two Tigers.

The manoeuvre of operating tanks at night was not new to the Canadians, who used them last August during the British-Canadian attack which broke through the German defence lines screening the highway to Falaise in Normandy.

The first counter-thrust came in against the right flank before the Canadians had time to consolidate properly.

There was a succession of stabs along the line and throughout the night the Germans kept coming in again and again. Wireless communications were disrupted and the situation was decidedly tense and difficult as the enemy milled about with his armor.

The position of a company commanded by Maj. Ken MacIntyre, of Windsor, Ont., was indicative of the confused fighting.

The left forward company of a right-flank battalion, they had been in their positions some time when they discovered a locked house within their lines. When they broke it open they found eight civilians and two German signalers who apparently had been observing every movement and messaging reports to German headquarters.

"We took the Germans prisoners and cut their lines, but the damage was done and they had the place taped," Maj. MacIntyre said. "It proved to be the most awkward situation."

Throughout Monday night this company had six or seven tanks milling among its positions and shooting them up although they never actually launched a co-ordinated attack.

Despite this, he said, "we killed many Germans and held the positions."

The company was in this difficult spot all Monday night, all Tuesday and part of Tuesday night, eventually reaching its own lines about 3 a.m. today.

A sniper whom the boys call "Chicago Kid," because Chicago is his home town, accounted for between ten and fifteen Germans before the sights of his rifle were shot off.

Stretcher-bearers, too, won special mention from the major.

A battalion farther east along the Goch-Calcar road had slightly more time to prepare positions against a counter-attack and held every thrust, although there, too, the enemy achieved some infiltration, which, however, was erased by local counter-measures.

It was this battalion which destroyed the two Tiger tanks Tuesday night—some reports say three were put out of commission—blasting them with anti-tank guns. In addition, its scout platoon of about 20 men cut off one German force attempting still another counter-attack, killed at least 25 and captured 50.

Soldiers along the Goch-Calcar road had an easier time of it today, for there was a decrease even in enemy mortar and artillery fire. Overhead they were able to watch the impressive display of air support as Tactical Air Force planes swooped behind trees to the northeast, rocketing and strafing the Germans opposing the Western Canadians.

PARIS, Feb. 21 (CP). Regaining the initiative on its 25-mile front, the Canadian First Army butted another mile toward the Ruhr Valley today as Western Canadian infantry hurled bitterly resisting Germans from the forest south of Moyland, two miles northwest of Calcar, and Scottish troops drove the last Germans from Goch.

Organized German resistance in the Saar-Moselle triangle at the centre of the Western Front crumbled under armored blows of the United States Third Army.

Scots completed their two-day house-to-house struggle for Goch as other troops of General Crerar's army rolled within 4,000 yards of yet another communications centre that has been turned into a fortified stronghold—Uedem, four and a half miles east of Goch and five and a half miles southwest of Calcar.

The Canadian First Army's offensive has rolled 18 miles since the February 8 jump-off.

AMERICANS CAPTURE 18 GERMAN TOWNS

On the central sector of the Western Front, the United States Third Army captured 18 German towns and fought its way into four more, including the fortress city of Saarburg, in advances up to five and a half miles along a 55-mile front.

Armored units drove into Saarburg on the western bank of the Saar River after establishing contact with the 94th Infantry Division, which had paved the way for the swift new plunge into enemy territory by crossing the Moselle River in a two-day attack to the south. Today the infantry drove on one and a half miles beyond Onsdorf, which is three and a half miles northwest of Saarburg.

Waves of American fighters and fighter-bombers tore at the broken enemy defences in the sector and dispirited German troops surrendered by the hundreds.

The Third Army also registered smaller gains elsewhere, biting into both shoulders of an enemy salient between the two American wedges driven through the Siegfried Line in the Pruem and Echternach areas, and the United States Seventh Army farther south fought into Forbach and pushed to within three miles of Saarbruecken.

In the North Gen. Crerar's troops regained the initiative after two days of repelling fierce German counter-attacks and drove forward up to a mile toward the vital Ruhr.

With sunshine flooding the battle zone, Canadian First Army forces drove the Germans back at points two miles from the road centre of Uedem and cut the Goch-Uedem railway in a one-mile advance. On the west flank Scots pushed more than a half-mile across flat, open country southeast of captured Hommersum.

Canadians pounded and jabbed at German defences outside Moyland, key to the adjacent stronghold of Calcar, whose capture would lay open a big stretch west of the Rhine. Fifty German battalions—mostly Elite troops—now had been identified on the front, but enemy counter-assaults, made despite Allied aerial pounding of their communications lines, clearly had failed to halt the Allied drive.

Since Friday Canadians had been hammering at German positions before Calcar. In the face of repeated counter-attacks in darkness and daylight Tuesday they yielded a thin slice of the Goch-Calcar road, then threw in a counter-attack of their own to regain it. In the woods south of Moyland they had faced entrenched German paratroopers in bitter, close fighting.

There was more fierce fighting between these woods and Luisendorf, five miles northeast of Goch on a secondary Goch-Calcar road.

In regaining ground lost to counter-attacks yesterday, the Canadians destroyed five Panther tanks, three self-propelled guns and two half-tracks.

The Roer River, behind which all or part of at least three great Allied armies await the signal to stem on into Germany, dropped two more inches in the last 24 hours and the speed of its current has decreased 25 per cent in three days. The Germans, nervously awaiting a full-scale Allied onslaught, stepped up their artillery fire in that sector.

Activity flared anew on the Alsatian Rhine, where the Germans put a small force across the river near Fessenheim, seven miles south of Neuf Brisach, under cover of an artillery barrage. French forces were believed to have the situation in hand.

Goch's Commander Captured In Bed—and in Fancy Pyjamas

By L. S. B. SHAPIRO
North American Newspaper Alliance

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN GERMANY (By Wireless).—"It's difficult to fight Scottish soldiers. They're inconsistent. Sometimes they attack, yelling like cannibals; sometimes they sneak forward like thieves in the night."

[illegible] deepest disgust, were spoken by Colonel Paul Matussek, commander of the Goch garrison, as he was having a leg wound dressed in a British aid post.

Matussek spoke from bitter experience. Ten days ago his paratroops gave up the Reichswald strongpoint when the Scots terrorized them with skirling bagpipes prior to a bayonet attack. At dawn Monday morning, Matussek and his staff were sleeping in his headquarters at the southeast corner of Goch after working throughout the night preparing for an expected attack from the north. He was awakened by sounds of scuffling in the halls and before he could get out of bed his rooms were filled with scowling Scots.

No wonder Matussek spoke with disgust. It was bad enough to have been tactically outguessed by the Scots, who had sneaked through the strongholds and fixed defences in the dark and scrambled into the town from the southeast. It was far worse for the commander of the strongest single position in the whole Siegfried Line on this sector to have been caught asleep in fancy pyjamas.

As Matussek and his personal staff were marched out of the town, they could hear sounds of the expected attack from the north. But it was too late for the Germans to save the bastion of their secondary defence line. Goch's defenders facing [illegible] sides. Without a senior commander, the defence was disorganized; and tonight Goch was being mopped up.

In this ignominious fashion, Goch was conquered and the repercussions may well be sensational. The town's fixed defences were the strongest in the whole northern area between the Maas and the Rhine. They were breached by a masterly tactical plan. The Germans did not expect Goch to be attacked strongly, because the British and Canadian troops seemed to be preparing outflanking moves at Calcar and along the Venlo road. The main German forces were switched to meet these threats. Then Gen. H. D. G. Crerar suddenly attacked in the very teeth of Goch's defences with huge success.

The German front has thus been breached in the centre and the opportunity is now open for a war of movement to the dry country southeast of Goch.

It was a great day for this famous Scottish regiment, which now has a strange device to add to its collection of captured battle flags: Das Matussek's fancy, striped pyjamas.

Soldiers' Friend Here on Business

John Beaton, Montreal, senior secretary of the National Y.M.C.A., arrived here yesterday to confer with officials of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. He is known to thousands of the fighting forces in Italy and France, and rest camps in England.

He has crossed the Atlantic six times during the present conflict, and has acted as guide, philosopher and friend to many a soldier.

During the Great War he served as a Y.M.C.A. worker in France.

"This time things are different," he explained. "Instead of a number of independent organizations, whose work sometimes overlapped, we now have a closely-knit league, the Canadian War Services. Included are the Y.M.C.A., the Salvation Army, the Knights of Columbus, the Canadian Legion and the Red Cross.

"We are able to buy in large quantities with our common funds, our distribution is controlled by one central office, and no duplication of effort is possible. Each service is assigned an area, and we pull together.

"No one appreciates better than Hitler the importance of morale of the forces. I think I may say that the Canadian War Services League has done, and will continue to do, everything in its power to keep our men happy. A fighting man must have entertainment, some comforts, and peace of mind. We will provide them," he stated.

Cowichan Community

Officers elected at the recent annual meeting of Lake Cowichan Community Club included F. Reid, president; J. Bailey, vice-president; Mrs. W. F. Grosskleg, secretary; Mrs. M. Boulet, Miss A. Greenwell, Miss A. Howe and W. F. Grosskleg, governors; Mrs. Grosskleg, Mrs. R. Jones, Miss J. Stuthers, Miss Howe, Miss V. Weaver and O. Olson, social committee. Silent tribute was paid in memory of the late B. Gordon. The financial statement showed $300 on hand and it was decided to make improvements to the club hall.

After BACKACHE ... What a difference!

For six weeks this woman endured the misery of backache. It was probably lumbago and was wearing her out. Then she began to take Kruschen, and in three weeks, what a difference there was! But let her tell the story herself.—

"About six weeks ago, I started having awful pains in my back. Sometimes I could not straighten myself, and I got depressed and worn out. I could scarcely carry on with my household duties, and everything was getting neglected. It was then I saw a Kruschen advertisement, and I decided to give Kruschen Salts a trial. I started with a small teaspoonful in hot water every morning, and in three weeks, my word, what a difference! The pains gradually disappeared. To-day at 46, I feel ten years younger."—(Mrs.) H. M.

Backache is often traced to poisons in the blood — poisonous waste products which are not being filtered out of your system. The mineral salts in Kruschen help your kidneys and other channels of elimination back to healthy, normal action, so that poisonous waste matter is properly expelled. In this way many people get joyous relief from those old dragging pains. Try Kruschen yourself.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores. 25c and 75c.

British Tommies Clear Goch In Welter of Crumbling Bricks

By H T MATSON
Daily Colonist War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, Feb. 21 (By Cable).—It sprayed along through the everlasting rain and the broad mud-ploughed roads sprayed back at it—at the hurrying jeep. And the "five fives" whinnied and squealed high across the roadway, and the seven point twos tore the rain out of the very heavens.

In the streets of Goch two Spandaus were spuming out streamer after streamer of hot, screaming lead.

The jeep stopped at the curb of a main street—Limeys were running about like brown terriers after rats—hugging the walls of the war-smashed buildings and ducking in and out of doorways when the shells plumped into the streets then burst with that hard walloping sound thet nearly scalps you.

And the Limeys kept on coming out again and chasing off down the streets and around the corners with their rifles cocked and poised from the hip upwards—crouched were these men and taut as bow-strings, yet they yelled at each other and laughed and kept on going.

And so did the Spandaus in the factory windows—and the lead sprawled into the street and through the doors and windows of the opposite buildings.

But the Limeys kept ducking and crouching and firing and little by little stole chunk after chunk of crumbling bricks and masonry—which was Goch. And the fight rattled on—the British salvos weltered into the thick, solid building with macabre fury.

ABANDONED SPANDAU LOOKS TEMPTING

On the threshold across which you were racing for a cellar lay an abandoned Spandau—and even in it. For it looked so new and its dark blue metal gleamed with fresh oil . . . a grand trophy—yes, you'd like to grab that and somehow get it home.

But first the cellar—then a wait while some shells slammed in—then out again to grab that shiny weapon. You stop with a hand stretched out, then suddenly withdraw it. Something queer about that gun . . . why was it all set up so nicely and with a band of cartridges running so neatly through its breach—why wasn't it lying on its side or muddied or half-smashed?

Then your mind clicks—booby trap, eh? Hell! No, you can't have it—so you step across sulkily and leave it.

Comes a lull in all this hell-begotten madness. Eddie has sneaked off up a side street with his camera and presently prevails upon a bunch of soldiers to "pose" for him.

They pose in a semi-circle, grinning—some with their arms around their pals' shoulders, some leaning with legs crossed against a piece of wall. A wag dons a bowler—another tries to simulate Jascha Heifetz with a violin looted from a nearby cafe.

The scene is imbecile, grotesque unreal, and you wonder just what is real. Peace or war?

Then the shells slap in again and the Spandaus re-commence their phrenetic stuttering. There's a knot of British Tommies in an archway: you join them, talk a bit. How was it at the beginning, you ask—did your Krauts fight or did they pack up like most of 'em hereabouts? And the Tommies answer, "Not much at first: about six rounds from three tanks we came in with put the wind up most of the ruddy 'xes'—t'others down street is them so-and-so's—spot of trouble they're giving us—not half."

You leave them shortly to go exploring.

There's a cafeteria close by, chairs are by the tables, dishes jumble each other in a wide deep sink—there are mugs on the dressers and cream jugs half filled with yesterday's cream—and sugar in the bowls and dozens of nickel-plated knives, forks, tongs and spoons in the sideboard.

You grab a handful and stuff them in your pocket — loot — beautiful, criminal, comical loot — and the chances are that in a couple of days you'll throw it out in the yard: the novelty of becoming a felon has evaporated.

ATTACK DOING VERY NICELY

Down the street a bit waits a British jeep. The young captain lolling on a fender tells you that all is so far going very nicely.

"We've crossed the river, here," he finger-points a bridge on the map just pulled from a pocket, "We've got more than half the town this morning—not quite cleared yet but the stinkers will be out by dusk—bank on it—and two officers and 600 prisoners already in."

You say so-long to him, then suddenly remember Eddie. Yes, where in the middle of all this noise and stink is Eddie? Last saw him mooching about the railway yard. There's a short-cut to the yard through a long brick building. Inside are scores of quadrangular aluminum trucks on tracks leading up to what might be smelters.

Curiosity leads you round one of the high brickwork bases, then 'Cripes!' for you've just trodden on a warm, flaccid Kraut, and five feet away lies another in a shallow crimson lake of his own pouring. Eegh! you shudder, get cracking and finally find Eddie with pockets oozing loot.

"Good pickings?" you ask him. "Not bad." Eddie pats his pockets smugly, then says, "let's get out of here."

Not a bad idea at all. It was raining heavily and the 505's and the 72's were floundering in again.

What the young British officer had said about Goch being pretty well cleared by dusk, plus the odd 600 prisoners, was the only important message in this story so we found the jeep and left Goch to the shells and Spandaus.

"It's futile to make statements on publications of that kind."

The New York Times said it had no comment. The Washington Star also declined comment.

Miss Thompson said:

"You can tell 'War and The Working Class' for me that they should get around more. The source of detailed information regarding the Union of German Officers connected with the Free German Committee is the broadcasts of the committee itself as sent to German troops and the German people."

LONDON, Feb 21 (CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden informed the House of Commons today that the question of establishing a provisional German government in the Russian-occupied section of Germany was not discussed at the Crimea Conference.

His statement in answer to a question added that the communique from Yalta pointed out there was agreement between the three powers on common policies and plans "for the occupation and control of Germany."

Reported Safe

CAPT. R. SCHJELDERUP, M.C.

Who is now reported safe, according to a recent casualty list released by the Department of National Defence. Capt. Schjelderup, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Schjelderup, Courtenay, was previously reported missing on October 7. He attended Courtenay schools and Monterey School here. On being graduated from Gordon Head O.T.C., he went overseas in June, 1942, and received the Military Cross for outstanding action on "D" Day. It was learned in January that Capt. Schjelderup escaped his Nazi guards and made his way back to the Allied lines, accompanied by Sgt. Armondo Gri, M.M. Capt. Schjelderup is serving with the 1st Battalion Canadian Scottish Regiment overseas.

Serves on Lancaster

P.O. John H. Maxwell, Victoria, air bomber, was part of the crew of an R.A.F. Lancaster, flown by Flt. Lt. W. T. Gee, D.F.C., Montreal, which was attacked by an enemy night fighter only once in more than 40 operational flights against some of Europe's most heavily defended targets.

Air gunners on the Lancaster shot down their single adversary, an ME 410, and another crew of the same squadron saw it strike the ground and burst into flames.

Flt. Lt. Gee's aircraft has been hit by flak on two occasions. One burst knocked out an engine and punctured a tire, but the R.C.A.F. pilot brought it down safely. Over Nuremberg, a burst struck his instrument panel, knocking out his air speed indicator and his altimeter, so that he did not know how fast or how high he was flying. By keeping well up, he returned safely to base.

Home From Italy

Cpl. W. E. Gariepy, who has been in hospital on three occasions through injuries received while serving on the Italian front with the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, is spending a month's leave with his parents, who reside at 1205 St. Patrick Street. His wife Maude and son, Robert Henry, are staying with his parents. Cpl. Gariepy arrived from overseas on the "tri-wounded" leave scheme, which gives men injured three times a month's leave and six months' duty in Canada.

Cpl. Gariepy, 31, enlisted in July, 1940, with the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, later transferring to his present unit. In the invasion of Sicily and Italy, he received his first wound when a phosphorous bomb exploded nearby. In May, 1944, while fighting on the Hitler Line, shrapnel tore through his right wrist, hospitalizing him for two months. He received his third injury after recently returning to duty when a quantity of petrol exploded.

Recent Graduates

Three Victoria airmen are included in a group of recent graduates from B.C.A.T.P. schools in the East. They are Sgt. Victor Neill, Mount Tolmie; Sgt. Franklin Eley, 2607 Lincoln Road, and Sgt. L. S. Prior, 3401 Cedar Hill Road. Up-Island graduates were F.O. James Muncaster, Wayside, Pender Island, and Sgt. Kenneth Brownsey, Duncan.

With the Red Army approaching the end of the sixth week in its victorious offensive, that has carried it well into Germany, fighting is now especially notable in the direction of Danzig. The Koenigsberg garrison has made another futile attempt to break out.

According to The Times' Moscow correspondent, great areas of Western Poland have escaped Nazi devastation. Kutno is virtually intact. Most of the towns in the Kalisz region are normal, with schools and theatres open and trains running. In central industrial regions blast furnaces are undamaged and are again producing pig iron. The Dombrova coalfields in Upper Silesia are delivering coal to the Russians.

The Australian Labor Party, says The Times' Canberra correspondent, has endorsed the Labor Government's proposals for virtual nationalization of the Commonwealth Bank, but rejected proposals for nationalization of trading banks. The Commonwealth Bank, as the Government plans it, will be empowered to investigate the stability of any trading bank and assume control of its business if it fails to comply with the new Banking Act.

The existing board of the Commonwealth Bank is to be abolished and control by a governor to be substituted. He will be responsible for the bank's policy, subject to direction of the Treasury.

Roads that thread the passes of the Bavarian and Karniche Alps, southeast of Berchtesgaden, appeared the obvious target of Allied fighter-bombers from Italy rather than Hitler's bombproof mountain hideout.

There would be no point beyond a nose-thumbing gesture in dropping explosives on that probable last refuge of Der Fuehrer even if he was known to be there, but the route that winds from Salzburg through the Alpine wall to connect up with main Italian communication lines in the Po Valley is another matter. It affords the quickest and most direct route for movement of German troops from Italy to bolster the southern end of the enemy's East Wall defences.

Allied leadership expects a German withdrawal from Italy if it has not already started. Prime Minister Churchill made the prediction to Parliament more than a month ago that "at any time, perhaps in a few months, perhaps much sooner . . . the Germans will be driven out of Italy or will perhaps withdraw." It has since been repeated by Lt.-Gen. Clark, Allied Field Commander in Italy and the pattern of Allied air attacks from Italy in recent days has been definitely shaped against trans-Alpine communications with that in mind.

German leadership can have no doubt that a withdrawal from Italy to prop the east and west fronts will be a desperate business at best in the face of Allied air mastery.

Along the still idle centre of the Allied line in Western Europe, the flooded Roer is reported substantially back within its banks and the roads fast hardening sufficiently for major operations by the American Ninth and British Second Armies to be undertaken.

With more than nine German shock divisions now definitely identified on the Canadian First Army sector to the north, it is clear that enemy defence lines have been heavily sapped elsewhere to meet the threat of the northern flanking thrust.

gave no indication that Hitler's home itself was hit and there is no information available as to whether he was there at the time of the attack.

"The place looked like a peaceful Summer resort," one pilot said. "Rail and road traffic was heavy and seemingly moved without fear of attack. Evidently Hitler's retreat is unaccustomed to war."

Another pilot said he dropped his plane's wing tanks "in a gesture of defiance" in the direction of Hitler's quarters, but poor visibility prevented him from seeing where they landed. Another told how the raiders hit a loaded troop train in the Berchtesgaden station and then strafed and fired the woods into which the German soldiers fled.

Looking Ahead

Governments look ahead, no doubt, to the next elections, but everyday people in their normal existence are forced to look somewhat further ahead than that. The individual cannot declare himself in upon anyone else's slice of cake, or anybody's tax pocket; but, on the contrary, knows only too well that his tomorrows will stem directly from his todays. That makes prudent individuals cautious, and somewhat skeptical of wonderful things—events that are pledged without much antecedent cause. Inasmuch as Governments speak for whole communities of people, they can and do affect individual lives and personal tomorrows as well.

If British Columbia has any future brightness and happiness in store, it can only be as an integral part of Canada, known and recognized both here and at Ottawa as such. Competing directly with eight other Provinces for human settlement, it must attract that settlement. That will not likely be done by putting up taxes and pulling down private initiative. It is far more apt to occur if our settlers, new or old, are given their heads. Schooling, policing and good roads enter into it. An economy of public outlay, against a balanced and visible result, also does. We will be entitled to speak of our public credit being high only so long as that credit is conserved, and not wasted.

Alberta did not gain much through the advent of quite wonderful things. Nor is Saskatchewan's present experiment likely to prove any better. British Columbia has at least the example of these departures before it, and both have involved a serious recession of confidence in those Provinces within the realm of Canada. Confidence, on the other hand, is born when good husbandry takes the place of the mere waving of magical wands. It is retained by simple and visible means, and seldom by gambles out of either private or public purses.

British Columbia, with its climate and its fine range of natural setting and scene, has every right to look forward with some confidence to the years that are ahead. It has a front door on the Pacific and a wealth of latent and of developed possibilities for world and domestic trade. If it is tax-ridden, these latent potentialities will never be developed. If it keeps its head and pays off its debts, there is nothing that can stop us from enjoying the best that is to be found in all Canada, if not also in the world at large: a free and independent living in a good, rich land. Governance, the world was told 2,000 years ago by a sound philosopher, is good when it attracts from afar.

French Ambassador

France's new ambassador to Canada, M. Jean de Hauteclocque, presented his papers at Ottawa yesterday and called on His Excellency the Governor-General. News wires, with a genius for irrelevancy, tell us that "he has six daughters and smokes a twenty-five cent pipe." The former fact, without doubt, could as well be attributed to his good lady, but the twenty-five cent pipe will excite the wonder and indeed the envy of the Canadian West. Where is such a thing now to be found? None the less, M. Hauteclocque commences his new mission at Ottawa under happy auspices, symbolical of the better days that are dawning for all of the world.

Here is France's representative in person, to speak for a nation again free and once more restored to its rightful place in the comity of world nations. His laughing face, his characteristically apt French words, and even the twenty-five cent pipe are all of one piece. Freedom, friendship and democracy are being reborn on a continent where they were very nearly extinguished in a long and bitter night. Now, for all of the flame of battle, the dark is rolling steadily away, and all hearts are turning to the future.

On this mission and in this guise Monsieur Jean de Hauteclocque will be thoroughly welcome in Canada. His first words contained a graceful compliment to this land. The new Ambassador for France in Canada said, in part:

"French citizens are well aware of the debt they owe to the armies which have freed their native soil, and among such armies their deep gratitude goes to Canadian soldiers whose heroism in Normandy, Picardy and Artois gave freedom to so many cities and villages whence 300 years ago many of their ancestors set out for the new world."

That was kindly spoken. Today, however, there is a feeling in most hearts that we are all setting out for the new world, and together. Striving together has taught us new things, not least of which is recognition of the necessity for closer human relationships and mutual trust and understanding. France has borne her very heavy visitations bravely, and, now freed, she will have much of wit, wisdom and gaiety to give to that new world. May God speed the day when all may enter it!

General Pearkes Honored

Some 200 officers associated with the Pacific Command and units under its direction tendered a dinner this week in honor of Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., whose resignation from the post of Commander in Chief of the Pacific Command still goes unexplained by the Dominion Cabinet, including the Minister of National Defence, General A. G. L. McNaughton. The officers who honored Major-General Pearkes were not alone in this tribute, which was one shared very widely by the people of British Columbia.

Here, as in the case of Colonel J. L. Ralston, who resigned his post in the Mackenzie King Cabinet, a good man is leaving a position in which he had done and was doing much good. The public is left with the half-light of indirect statement and innuendo on matters upon which it has every right to be informed. In the case of Colonel Ralston Parliament held its debate, one forced, however, by the pressure of popular opinion and from a reluctant Government. In the case of Major-General Pearkes is Ottawa standing upon what has been said by its Minister of Agriculture? And what has a Minister of Agriculture to do with National Defence?

Mr. King does not seem to have realized even yet that the majority of the people of Canada did not like what happened at Ottawa in the Ralston-McNaughton conflict. Nor do they like to see men like Major-General Pearkes leave their posts with the suggestion that they are not in accord with what is being done at Ottawa. Mr King and his Minister of National Defence have both lost ground on this issue. Nor has any part of that confidence been regained by the ungentlemanly and quite uncalled for diatribe by Mr. Gardiner against a good soldier and a brave man.

Service Clubs

It was the cult of the knowing ones a few years back to frown upon Main Street and to talk of Babbitry in the language of a professional cynic. Yet, life forever is lived on Main Street. It is concerned with human relations which vary little from one town or one country to another. There are those who contribute to community spirit, and those who never will; although the latter are always ready to take advantage of any benefits turned up by their more realistic and more active contemporaries. While the cult was at its height, service clubs were derided and all those who belonged to them were called Babbits. But the service clubs, at any rate, would seem to have survived that. They are today respected and honored in those communities which they serve, and not without demonstrated cause.

It is a coincidence that two of our service clubs, the Kiwanis and the Kinsmen in this community should be celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversaries in the same week. The Victoria Kiwanis Club was formed twenty-five years ago, and, under a succession of able leaders, it has been a force for good in the community ever since. The Victoria Kinsmen Club is not yet that old, but this week it celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of its parent organization at Hamilton, Ontario. It, too, has made its presence felt. To both organizations we would say well done, and many happy returns!

In these trying times all service clubs have done much to further the cause of human welfare. They have worked earnestly and hard in war charities and in innumerable other ways. They hold, almost in common, a code of ethics for which Main Street need never apologize, and their members, in the main, well live up to that code. The field before them will still be enlarging when the last cynic has been forgotten.

Seen in Passing

Say what one will, the present Corps of Infantry plan is robbing this country of something it had in the Great War, regimental tradition. Most Canadians have found it literally impossible to follow the record of those units in which their sons and brothers are enlisted. And yet that record is a brilliant one. It concerns some of the heaviest fighting of the whole war, assaults made with great determination and daring, and often against long odds. When the war ends, these regiments will come home with their battle honors, but this country will not know what those honors stand for or imply. Under existing censorship and other regulations, they cannot be told. Victoria, for instance, will have to go to the official histories, years later, to find out what its own regiments—and they are outstanding—did in the war.

Farewell to the Sir Thomas Lipton

(A Clipper Ship Converted Into a Barge)

She came up London River on the swift incoming tide
All London went to greet her in her beauty and her pride.
Her canvas gleamed and quivered, like a white cloud passing by
A dream of beauty floating, poised between sea and sky.

She left Victoria Harbor on the last sad turn of ebb.
Weighted with coal and broken, and all her beauty shed.
And no one paused to watch her, they scarcely knew her name
She's vanished from a careless world, as a leaf caught in a flame.

Pathetic Scenes

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN BEDBURG, Feb. 21.—The screaming insanity of war was perhaps never more stunningly portrayed as it was this week when hundreds of hopelessly insane patients of the Kleve Provincial Asylum looked with child-like calm on the terror-stricken German civilians fleeing a vicious battle between Canadians and suicidal groups of paratroopers on the rolling wooded land between Bedburg and Udem.

The mental institution, second largest in Germany, is situated on spacious grounds for miles south of Bedburg, and currently houses 1,700 patients. The majority of these are harmless and today they are wandering among Canadian foxholes dug near the asylum buildings, which overlook the battlefield. They are identified by leather tags hung around their necks, but this seemed hardly necessary. Though the atmosphere was lacerated by explosions of heavy-calibre shells, staccato machine-gun fire, and the horrible wail of German nebelwerfers, or screamie-meamies, and while old men, women and children struggled frantically through the mud to escape the sickening battlefield, the mental cases were hardly perturbed—even slightly amused—as they regarded the proceedings.

The scene took on the quality of a curious nightmare. The so-called normal world was behaving with stark madness, while the stigmatized insane with their glazed eyes and half-open mouths looked tolerantly upon the scene.

When the tattered, mud-covered German prisoners were marched out of a nearby wood by the determined Canadians, the patients snickered with subdued hysteria. When the civilians tottered along the roadside under their inhuman loads of goods and chattels, the insane nudged each other and babbled incoherently.

The Canadians, who have been fighting through the asylum grounds for two days, find the patients no trouble at all. Only the terrified civilians are sources of annoyance as they block the roadsides. A skeleton staff at the hospital remains on duty.

At the extremity of the asylum grounds, a vicious battle took place near a cemetery on Friday last. The place is dotted with foxholes dug between the graves. In an untouched corner of the grounds I found graves of eight American and four Canadian flyers who had died in Kleve Hospital, presumably last December. Three Canadians were unidentified and a fourth was named Max Bossert.

The names of the Americans were John Keys, George McNulty, Milton Goldstein, David Gautney, N. H. Horton, Alex Snow, John Runge and Floyd Halil; their home towns not given. The crosses merely had their names and the lettering "U S A."

An earlier report that 500 Jews had been buried here proved false. Canadian troops who had reported this were confused by the miniature Star of David painted on some crosses. I questioned hospital officials, who informed me the star indicates those who died while insane. This apparently is true, as the names certainly are not Jewish.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock at any time add 28.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

"No subordinate wants to call for reserves or admit that he cannot stem an Allied advance. Minor gains are painted as major victories. A few casualties inflicted by the Japanese become a 'gekimetsu,' an annihilation, a word they love to use. Legislation expected to be tabled during the session includes refunding of the province's public debt, setting up of a ministry of reconstruction, and Alberta's $1,000,000 housing scheme. About 100 amendments, most of them minor, will be brought in to be embodied in the province's Mines Act.

Many other minor amendments will be made to other provincial acts to bring them up to date.

Opening session will be occupied with reading of the Speech from the Throne by Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen and special legislation to be introduced by Attorney-General Lucien Maynard to allow the three recently-elected servicemen members-at-large of the Legislature to take their seats in the House by February 26.

Regular debate in the House will start Friday, when Mrs. Rose Wilkinson, Social Credit M.L.A. for Calgary, will move adoption of the Throne Speech.

The Social Credit Government, headed by Premier E. C. Manning, received an overwhelming majority in the August 8, 1944 provincial general election, when 51 Social Credit members were elected to the Assembly.

NEW RUSSIAN DANCE

According to Culbertson

In the early days of contract bridge we experimented with the idea of making any response except one no trump show a minimum of one and a half honor tricks. We soon discovered, however, that in a tremendous proportion of cases this convention was unwieldy and we therefore quickly went over to so-called "distributional bidding." Let's look at a typical deal.

When this deal was played at a New York club, North opened with one diamond. East passed, and South who was decidedly "an old school" player, answered with one no trump. West overcalled with two spades, and North came in with three diamonds. East promptly doubled, and now for the first time and at this rather dangerous level South decided that it would be a good idea to show his six-card heart suit. West lost no time about doubling, and now North, no doubt disgusted, belligerently went to four diamonds. East doubled, and North paid a penalty of 800 points.

Under modern bidding theories, South was guilty of a bridge crime in failing to bid one heart instead of one no trump. Surely, if his weak six-card suit was worth showing at all, it was safer to show it at the one level. If South had made that utterly logical response, he would have been satisfied to defer to North in any future bidding, and then the auction undoubtedly would have proceeded one spade by West, two diamonds by North, pass by East. East would not have doubled two diamonds, because, for one thing, his partner's one spade bid would not have meant nearly as much as his actual two-spade bid meant, for another, of course, North's rebid would have come in one level lower.

READ WHAT YOU GET IN 2 GLASSES OF OVALTINE

● Take your vitamins in combination with other food elements which authorities agree are necessary for best results!

● Many people need extra vitamins for better health and keen vitality, but it is now known that vitamins do not work alone. They work as a team with certain other food elements. Hence, more and more, authorities are insisting "Take your vitamins in food!"

One of the reasons vitamins are so effective in Ovaltine is that Ovaltine is a concentrated all-round building food. It contains the other food elements that enable vitamins to work together effectively as a team.

For example, Vitamin D can't do its complete job unless you have plenty of calcium and phosphorus, as found in a glass of Ovaltine made with milk. Vitamin A can't function fully unless you also have plenty of high-quality protein, such as Ovaltine supplies. Vitamin B_1 can't spark food into energy unless it has fuel-food to work on. To get this important "teamwork", doctors urge "Take your vitamin in food!"

Ovaltine also is the most delicious way to take your extra vitamins and minerals! And it costs very little for all it gives you! If you're eating normal meals, 2 glasses of Ovaltine a day give you all the extra vitamins and minerals you need. So why not turn to Ovaltine, as thousands are doing, for the delicious way to get more effective "teamwork" from extra vitamins and minerals for better health and all-round vitality!

Asks McNaughton to State if Troops Landed Without Guns

WEXFORD, Ont., Feb. 21 (CP).—Hon. Earl Rowe, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Dufferin-Simcoe, Ontario, said tonight that the people of Canada wanted to know whether or not the draftees sent overseas last month as reinforcements arrived there with their rifles.

[illegible] before the Wexford Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Rowe said Defence Minister McNaughton had termed a "diabolical untruth" the statement of John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, that draftees had thrown their rifles overboard.

During the Grey North Federal by-election campaign, Mr. Bracken asked Gen. McNaughton to tell the public how draftees had thrown their rifles and ammunition overboard after boarding troopships.

"May I ask General McNaughton," said Mr. Rowe, "a few questions the people now have a right to know.

"1. Did this troopship load of N.R.M.A. soldiers land in Britain without their guns in the personal possession of the troops?

"2. If they did, why?

"3. How many of the troops were fined the price of their guns and [illegible]

"4. If they didn't land in Britain without their guns, why has the answer been withheld since February 1 when Mr. Bracken demanded an answer?

"Whether all these guns were left in the Halifax waters, or some of them in the water and the balance on the docks is not of importance. What the Canadian people want to know is—did our troops land without guns, and why?"

General McNaughton, who was defeated in the Grey North by-election by Garfield Case, a Progressive Conservative, had repeatedly emphasized that he had sent over all the troops he had promised to send.

"That may be true, but three weeks ago Mr. Bracken asked General McNaughton if he had fulfilled one single demand of our fighting forces overseas in full," said Mr Rowe. "He has not answered. If he has failed to fill their demands in the past, will he now promise to fill them in the future? Are the needs of our troops to be met by General McNaughton's kind of promises or by what our army headquarters overseas demand?"

Mr. Rowe said he challenged Prime Minister Mackenzie King to make public all documents, correspondence and memoranda regarding General McNaughton's release from command of the Canadian army overseas.

"I also challenge Mr King to tell the people if the man he now says is to be Minister of National Defence, whether elected or not, was not relieved of his command overseas because he was either unfitted or incompetent for the task."

If Mr. King insisted on "flouting" the will of the people by retaining General McNaughton as Defence Minister and continuing a two-army policy, then "I challenge him to set up a committee representative of all parties in the House to review the records of the echelon officers overseas and let the people have the facts regarding reinforcements during the past nine months," said Mr. Rowe.

Mr. Rowe said that recently Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., officer commanding the Pacific Command, "was forced to resign from service in this time of war crisis in protest against this faltering and fearful policy.

"Why does the Government withhold the recommendations recently made by General Pearkes and the true reasons for his resignation? Surely we are entitled to the benefit of this highly trained military authority."

Presbytery Parley To Conclude Today

The regular Spring Presbytery meeting of the United Church of Canada opened yesterday morning at the Metropolitan Church with approximately 40 delegates from Victoria and Island centres present. Rev. E. Fleming, Vancouver, was chairman of the meeting, and Rev. W. C. Thompson acted as secretary.

Committee discussions were held during the afternoon, and last night Rev. Dr Hugh Dobson, Vancouver, conducted an open forum at the church. After the war, 50 per cent of the people of Canada would be "on the move," Dr. Dobson predicted, and advocated further church fellowship as a means by which to overcome problems.

During the forum, matters relative to divorce rates and marriages were thoroughly aired, and problems associated with juvenile delinquency were also discussed.

Other speakers included Rev Dr A. E Whitehouse and Rev. Dr. W W McPherson. Sessions will conclude this morning.

CONFERENCE CANCELED

TORONTO, Feb 21 (CP).—The regional conference of the National Federation of Sales Executives, to be held here in April, has been canceled, it was announced today, in accordance with a Government policy discouraging national conventions in wartime.

Working Passage Back to Fighting

NEW WESTMINSTER, Feb. 21 (CP).—Flt. Lt. Raymond (Punch) Thompson, hero of two operational tours with the R.C.A.F. overseas, is going back to the fighting fronts.

Flt. Lt. Thompson, winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross and Bar, is working his way across the Atlantic as a member of the crew of a freighter. Once on the other side he plans to join the Royal Air Force.

Young Thompson obtained his discharge from the R.C.A.F. shortly after his return to Canada. Air Force officials said he had seen enough service overseas to warrant a stay in Canada.

University Tests New Explosives

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21 (CP).—For the past five years, in a closely-guarded laboratory, members of the chemistry department of the University of British Columbia have been experimenting with new types of explosives and at least one of the results of this research is now in commercial production in Eastern Canada, Dean Daniel Buchanan, head of the faculty of arts and sciences, told the Board of Trade here today.

So closely guarded was this part of the university's wartime work that even the dean himself was not allowed inside the laboratory, he said.

Nor was this the only branch of war science to which the university contributed, he said.

For a long time, research has been conducted into flashless propellants for rockets, the absorption of gases, the production of smoke screens and tests of gas masks.

The contribution made to the war effort by geology department had also been a great one, the dean said. The fluorescent light which revealed such necessary war metal as scheelite, from which tungsten was obtained, had been introduced to Canada by the University of British Columbia.

It was a U.B.C. man also who discovered the Pinchi Lake cinnabar deposits from which $4,500,000 worth of mercury had already been obtained.

Says Quebec Assembly Cannot Pronounce on Conscription

QUEBEC, Feb 21 (CP).—The Dominion Government has "complete sovereignty" in matters of war and Quebec legislators "cannot pronounce themselves on conscription because they do not know the exact reasons which forced the Federal Government to impose it," Francois Leduc (L., Laval) said tonight in the Quebec Legislative Assembly.

Debate on a motion by Rene Chaloult (I., Quebec County) protesting against conscription for overseas service, was adjourned until next Wednesday.

"It is a duty for Quebec to respect the Federal sovereignty if Quebec wants to gain respect of its own provincial rights," Mr. Leduc said. "How can we talk of provincial autonomy if we refuse to recognize Federal rights."

Andre Laurendeau, Bloc Populaire leader, who seconded Mr. Chaloult's motion, said: "The very fact that Mr. King has betrayed his engagements to Quebec and the whole of Canada, is a threat to our democratic institutions. The motion may prove useless today, but the protest may have some influence on the Canadian history of tomorrow."

It was "dangerous" for a majority in a country to attempt to impose its will on a minority.

Lt.-Col. Jean Paul Sauve (U.N., Two Mountains) a former officer commanding the Fusiliers Mont-Royal overseas, told the Assembly that Mr. Chaloult's motion "condemns a decision of the Defence Minister," and said that as an officer of His Majesty's Forces he could not "refuse to obey superior orders—not even discuss them."

Premier Duplessis said the Liberal Administration in Ottawa had applied "the most perfidious and dishonest kind of conscription ever applied in this country," and his Union Nationale Government had protested at the time when "16,000 recruits" were being sent overseas, by passing an order in council prohibiting the draft.

"The order in council adopted by the Cabinet was the most energetic protest possible," he said. "We did what was our duty. If Quebec did not witness disturbances and revolt at the time it is because there was a responsible Government at the head of the province—a Government which asked the people to respect the law and to protest in order."

He was glad that the Assembly was supporting the Government's protest and would be glad to vote for Mr. Chaloult's motion.

Opposition Leader Godbout said he would vote for the motion as he was convinced that "the principle of conscription is false" but he was not in favor of the Nationalist views of the sponsor.

"I am opposed to conscription because there is a danger of injustice in its application, and I am convinced the principle is false," he added.

After the afternoon sitting, David Cote (C.C.F., Noranda-Rouyn) said that enforcement of conscription is necessary and is in the interest of French Canadians "since it is in the interest of all Canadians."

Mr. Cote said that conscription of capital should have been enforced before conscription of manpower, "because if profits are removed from war there won't be any more wars."

Ten Canadians Hold Out When Germans Attack

By CHARLES LYNCH
Reuters War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS BEFORE CALCAR, Feb. 21 (Reuters)—Their house which served as headquarters surrounded by German tanks, with Germans occasionally forcing an entrance into the building and with high explosives crashing into the roof, men of a Canadian unit held on to their headquarters and fought back from the cellar for 12 hours until relieved.

Their stand is one of the dramatic incidents of the bitter warfare around the Goch-Calcar road.

It began when a message—"This headquarters is surrounded"—crackled over the radio at midnight on Monday. Then there was silence.

At 10 a.m. yesterday another message came through. The Germans, it said, still had the headquarters surrounded and it asked for mortar fire to be laid down to disperse them.

Fire was laid down and infantry supported by tanks sent in with orders to rescue the Toronto-born colonel and his staff.

At 12.45 p.m. yesterday came the message "Battalion headquarters relieved. Commanding officer safe."

During those 12 hours the colonel, two officers and seven men had hung on in the cellar while the Germans brought the house down on top of them with shells. Germans even entered the upper portions of the house.

One German forced his way downstairs into the cellar and was shot dead. Another tried to fire in through a window and he also was killed.

Five tanks ringed the house but could not break the spirits of these men who were fighting mad because of a trick the Germans had played just before the headquarters was cut off.

The Germans had been fighting heavily to prevent the Canadians advancing south of the Goch-Calcar road.

Some of the Canadians were easing their way forward when from round the corner of a house a German tank appeared with a white flag tied to the muzzle of its gun.

The Canadians held their fire. Then the tank opened fire on a group of Canadian soldiers before it turned and roared away.

Russian Drive

slashed communications between Berlin and Frankfurt on the west bank of the Oder 38 miles from Berlin.

Pravda did not specify the location, but this shortest distance from Berlin yet given by the Russians indicated that Zhukov had crossed the Oder, a development which the Germans long have conceded but which Moscow never has announced.

Hans Arnitz, a German war reporter, broadcast that the roads and railway between Berlin and Frankfurt had been reopened, but added that a great battle for encirclement of Frankfurt was in progress and that the inhabitants had fled the shell-torn city.

The Second White Russian Army of Marshal K. K. Rokossovsky meanwhile continued its steady drive northward through the Polish Corridor towards Danzig, now 33 miles away, and was honored by an order of the day from Premier Stalin announcing capture of Czersk, 45 miles southwest of Danzig.

In the Samland Peninsula of East Prussia the Berlin radio claimed a surprise German offensive had re-established a firm corridor from Koenigsberg to the escape port of Pillau, 20 miles south.

Moscow merely acknowledged some advances by the enemy in that sector and said the desperate effort was costing the Germans enormously in men and equipment, while another trapped German force southwest of Koenigsberg lost 85 tanks and 400 vehicles in two days.

Moscow's nightly communique and a supplement said the First Ukraine forces of Marshal Ivan S. Konev had seized a strategic ridge in the forest on the eastern approaches to Guben and had driven up to the Neisse River on both sides of the town, capturing more than 50 populated places in advances that measured seven to 13 miles on a 50-mile-wide front.

There were rumblings of antipathy to the Big Three's decisions, stemming chiefly from the by-passing of the Polish Government in London. It is likely that a move will be made to offer an amendment to any proposed endorsement of the Government's policy.

Mr Churchill refused to be drawn into a discussion now on what machinery would be set up by the United Nations to carry out the policies of the Crimea Charter.

He stuck by this decision despite persistent questions in Commons about the role of the French and whether France was likely to co-operate. Nor would he discuss whether special plans had been made to speed relief to liberated countries.

The Canadian Way

The Spirit of Home

HOME . . . no matter how simple, how grand . . . will always be the place we call our very own.

For here is where happiness, contentment and love are known . . . here we find peace, security and relaxation. Regardless of our station in life . . . or the heights to which we may rise . . . home will always be the same . . . will always be there.

From the lowliest of cottages in this land have risen the greatest of our Canadian leaders . . . for the way ahead in this Canada of ours is free and open wide to all who aspire to greater things. But whatever the achievements of the individual . . . home is where the heart lies.

Home is what we live for and fight for. Our men "over there" realize the true sense of the word "home" perhaps more than we do. And they think of home . . . often.

Let us be sure this spirit of home lives forever in the hearts of every Canadian . . . for come what may, our Canadian way of life, our Canadian heritage, has its foundation in the homes on Canada!

Gaily Colored Hats

PARIS, Feb. 21 (AP)—The hats that adorn elegant Parisian heads this Spring will be gay with warm reds, yellows and blues, symbolizing France's emergence from Winter into a Spring and Summer bright with hope of a better life.

Part of that, at least, is the view of the noted milliner, Gilbert Orcel, who explained, "We have the right to a more optimistic view of our situation in spite of all difficulties. While costumes remain sober we might as well allow a small note of gaiety in coiffure."

You see the lady knows it isn't Frankie gurgling over that microphone at Granville and Hastings Streets, Vancouver's busiest intersection It's Freddie And he's not to be trifled with. He's Traffic Constable Fred Dougherty, the czar of the stop sign

For a year now Constable Dougherty has ruled the downtown corner with its three-face traffic light and public address system. With its special pedestrian signal, only one of its kind in Canada, the light was installed a year ago at a cost of $2,500. It was the result of long years of traffic snarls, strained tempers and scratched bumpers at the busy corner

Now the pedestrian, like the motorist, has his own signal which he must obey On one corner stands Fred Dougherty, mike in hand. And when he catches anyone trying to beat the light he tells him all about it and also the hundred or so shoppers up in the next block

After a year's training period Constable Dougherty thinks at last he has Vancouver educated "I don't have to use this mike much at all these days except to hustle along a slow-poke now and again," he said

OTHER CENTRES INQUIRE

Seattle Portland Ore Toronto and Montreal civic officials have inquired about the new system At first outsiders thought it wouldn't work—figuring the average person would object to a bawling out in public

"Not many of them really get sore," said the czar of the corner "It offends their ego but they're only temporarily ruffled I always take care never to insult them—just ridicule a little And oh how deflating it is to be made fun of with the rest of the world looking on."

But plenty of humor spices Constable Dougherty's job

"I'll never forget a certain plump dowager," he reminisced. "She would insist on crossing against the light . . . Finally I had to tick her off. 'Ah, ah, ah—trot along back and wait for the green light, that's a good girl'.

"Later she came over to where I stood 'Young man you were making fun of me? What do you mean by telling me to be a good girl!'

"'Why lady,' I said 'From across the street you didn't look a day over 16'

"'Humph,' she stamped off '. . . You Irish cops!'"

"See what I mean?" the czar concluded, "you've got to flatter them."

GIRL HAS FUN AT FIANCE'S EXPENSE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Just a G.I. Joe writing you a wail about a girl he's broken off with. Every time I could get away from the camp I went to see her and usually found one or two, even three sometimes, draft-dodgers dressed in the latest. Maybe my uniform without any bars or clusters didn't appeal to her, for she used to entertain the slackers with little jokes such as calling me The General, The Colonel, etc.

She did other humiliating things such as asking me to go on errands or to bring something back from the P.X. Then they had more fun over that. Presently these digs and jokes got under my skin and I wrote her a letter and told her to keep the ring, as it would be very painful for me to see it again, but as far as she was concerned, I was going A.W.L. She's tried hard to make it up since and I'm adamant. Don't you think I'm right? —G.I. Joe.

I suppose the girl was intoxicated by her own power to charm, to have made her act the way you describe. I think you did the right thing in breaking your engagement to anyone so heartless and lacking in patriotism as to try smarty tricks on a man in uniform for the entertainment of apparent slackers. Congratulations.

Wreck of Local Fishing Boat Found but No Trace of Crew

Through the United States Coast Guard at Port Angeles, it was learned last night that the wreck of the 33-foot fishing vessel Cuna Chief, owned and operated by two young Victoria fishermen, and which had been reported missing since February 10, had been located 30 miles west of Port Angeles.

No trace was found of the two men, Harold "Gobby" Cain, 102 Ni- [illegible] Oswago Street.

Crew members of the Ss. Iroquois, upon reaching Victoria from Port Angeles at 8 30 o'clock yesterday morning, reported they had sighted the wreck of a fishing boat, and had reported to United States customs officers, who, in turn, asked that the Coast Guard investigate. A speedy craft searched the shoreline west of Port Angeles and located the wrecked troller.

A detailed report from the American officials is expected today by Inspector Roger Peachey, of the Provincial Police. Mr. Cain, father of Harold, plans to proceed to Port Angeles this morning.

The two fishermen left Victoria at the beginning of the month on a regular trip for dogfish and were last seen heading for Sidney. Rough weather prevented their fishing off Race Rocks, their usual grounds. Provincial Police recalled that it was on February 11 that strong southwest gales swept the lower end of [illegible]

From Mrs. May and members of the Cain family, it was learned the two men had gone into partnership last December, and had jointly purchased the trolling vessel.

Both in their early 20's, the two Victoria-born men had been employed by B.C. Packers, Ltd., prior to going into business on their own. May had been in the Canadian Navy until last year.

Their ship was powered by a seven-horsepower engine, had an open cockpit and on the bow was painted the number N-50-F.

Asks Housing For Old People

Community housing for old age pensioners lacking homes, and separate communities for senile elderly people, was proposed to the Legislature yesterday by E. E. Winch (C.C.F., Burnaby), speaking in the debate in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

He produced a plan to provide for single persons, married couples, for two men or two women to live together, or for larger groups where assistance was necessary due to physical infirmity.

Stating the cost of feeding patients at Essondale was 26 cents a day, at Oakalla 29 cents, at the British Columbia penitentiary 42 cents and at the home for the aged 58 cents, he urged that the staff of each institution should be required to eat the same meals as inmates.

Mr. Winch suggested that when a faculty of medicine was established at the University of British Columbia steps should be taken to avoid placing it "under the sole control of the medical concept as this would mean the exclusion of every other form of treatment despite their proven benefits."

Mr. Winch suggested also that medical fees should be governed by Government regulation and said that since lawyers' charges could be taxed, doctors' could be also.

Mr. Winch asked that the Workmen's Compensation Act be amended, doing away with the two cents a day hospitalization contribution by workmen; that all workers be brought under the act, and that chiropractors be added to the staff of the Compensation Board. He proposed benefits over a wider period, beginning with the date of the injury, and asked for compensation for hernia and other benefits.

He praised Rossland's action in sending two students to the session, expressed appreciation of courtesies extended to them, and hoped other parts of the province would follow suit. He complimented Hon. Dr K. C MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, on his early reports, and said Hon E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands, was the best man on the Government side for this portfolio. Mr Kenney, he said, was one of the few who had taken an interest in Provincial institutions and human welfare.

Trying to Trace Heirs to Fortune

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21 (CP)—The fortune in cash, bonds and bank drafts, amounting to approximately $61,000, which was found concealed in an old shirt around the waist of John O. H Hill was placed in a bank safety deposit vault by city police today.

Police put the money in a safe place pending replies to wires dispatched in an effort to trace relatives of the man who was found dead in his room in a West Cordova Street hotel. The money was found when Hill's body was being undressed at the city morgue.

One telegram was sent to J. W. Sutton, Willows, Glen County, Cal., a friend of the deceased man; another to the authorities in Hobart, Tasmania, where he was born, and another to the British Vice-consul at Seattle.

Vancouver Forecast

Fair to partly cloudy. Snow showers over mountains. Little change in temperatures.

MONTREAL, Feb 21 (CP)—Enrolment of students at McGill University has reached the highest in history, F Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor, announced today following a meeting of the university senate. The peak registration of 3,933 students includes 320 veterans of the present war.

Doukhobor Land Cause of Flare

Doukhobor lands in the Grand Forks area caused a brief flare in the Legislature yesterday between T. A. Love (Conservative-Coalition, Grand Forks-Greenwood) and Hon. E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands, when Mr. Love said Grand Forks faced possibility of losing the Kettle Valley Packers, Ltd., canning plant there because the Government imposed unfair conditions when the operator tried to buy 560 acres to assure his plant a basic supply of tomatoes.

Mr. Kenney stated there were six or seven Doukhobor homes on the land, and a Doukhobor cemetery, and that some Doukhobors were "in occupation." He said the Government had called for tenders on the land, of which Mr. Love did not approve, and that "no tender that could be called a tender was submitted."

Retaliating that the Government only called tenders because Doukhobors had protested against sale being made to Mr. Miller, of Kettle Valley Packers, Mr. Love said it was true the tender arrived late, but added "he did make a bid, with certain stipulations." He charged Mr. Miller "was not given the consideration that would be given to anyone else"; said the Doukhobors occupying the land were not producing, but were letting the land go to waste while earning their living elsewhere; and contended that only one or two of those who made the protest were actually living on the land.

He asked the Government to "make it possible for others to acquire the land and bring it into production."

In three years during which Doukhobors were given priority to buy the land, "there were very few takers" and they made "only nominal payments" with the object of holding the property. Rental payments failed to provide enough revenue for administration and taxes, he said.

Mr. Love said he had been sent to Victoria by his city to plead with the Government to make the sale to the canners, for the $188,000 paid out in wages and for supplies and expenses by the cannery last year meant a great deal to Grand Forks. Now, he said, Mr. Miller did not want that land. He hoped farmers of the district would be able to make an arrangement with Mr. Miller under which the cannery could be retained.

KARAKAS GAINS FOURTH SHUTOUT

Chicago Black Hawks' chances of grabbing a play-off berth in the current National Hockey League campaign look pretty slim, but one thing to be said in their favor is that they are certainly making a game but somewhat belated bid for one of the money spots.

Last Sunday the Chicagoans held the pace-setting Montreal Canadiens to a scoreless tie, and last night they skated to a 5-0 victory over Boston Bruins. The shutouts were the third and fourth of the season for Mike Karakas, their 33-year-old net custodian.

While Chicago's play-off hopes are slim, Mike Karakas, their goalie, is in line for the shutout honors. His fourth shutout last night moved him into a tie with Maple Leafs' Frankie McCool, who has also kept his score sheet clean in four National Hockey League games this season.

McCool, who played with Currie Army last season and proved a big stumbling block to Victoria Army in their Allan Cup play-downs, is in the "big time" for his first season. The situation is slightly different with Karakas. Mike, as he is called by all of his teammates, has been in the National Hockey League for some time.

GATHERED FROM HERE AND THERE

Saturday's soccer match between the Royal Canadian Navy and Victoria Machinery Depot will be a semi-final of the McGavin Cup series, a series in which the net gate receipts go to the injured players' fund. The winner of this match will oppose Victoria West, league champions, in the final. . . . Carle Woany, classy member of the United Services cage quintette, will probably be on the sidelines for the remainder of the season. Woany is reported to have sustained a possible fracture of his right wrist in last Saturday's game with Tommy Tuckers. . . . Bob Whyte's Rookies, women's basketball squad, dropped a 38-22 decision to Seattle Bomberettes in Seattle during the week-end. Biggest trouble to the Rookies was Alice Jorgenson, who racked up 18 points. However, the locals are proud of the fact that they were among the first girls' hoop quintettes to play in the University of Washington pavilion. . . . Answer to query: Jack Sharkey fought Joe Louis in New York on August 18, 1936, and was kayoed in the third round.

REMEMBER WHEN DEPARTMENT

It was approximately 17 years ago when Toronto's Varsity Grads romped through to the Olympic hockey title at St. Moritz with a lop-sided 13-0 triumph over Switzerland in the final. Hugh J. Plaxton, former member of Parliament and now commanding officer at Royal Canadian Navy Centre at Kingston, Ont., and Dave Trottier, one-time Montreal winger, led Canadian marksmen in the tournament. . . . James J. (Gentleman Jim) Corbett was buried at New York about 12 years ago. A large assemblage of stage and ring celebrities gathered to pay final tribute to the former heavyweight boxing champion. The great San Francisco fighter won the title from John L. Sullivan by a knockout in 1892 and lost it five years later to Bob Fitzsimmons. . . . Dusky Joe Louis, only seven months a professional, knocked out Lee Ramage in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Los Angeles ten years ago last night, taking a long stride in his world's heavyweight title climb which was successful in 1937 when he stopped James J. Braddock.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Chicago Black Hawks, fighting for a berth in the Stanley Cup play-off, defeated fourth-place Boston 5-0, in a National Hockey League game here tonight with a pair of goals in both the second and third periods after taking a 1-0 lead in the first period.

The Black Hawks waited until nearly three-quarters of the second period was gone before they scored twice in less than a minute and virtually clinched the victory. They wound it up with two more in the last 30 seconds of play and had the crowd of 10,114 cheering for almost 10 minutes after the teams left the ice.

The victory, Chicago's ninth of the season, left them but two points back of the fifth-place New York Rangers, and still with a chance of climbing into fourth place—and the play-offs—if they continue the style of play they showed tonight and last Sunday, when they held the champion Montreal Canadiens to a scoreless tie.

Karakas, who scored his fourth shutout of the season, was credited with that hockey rarity—an assist for a goalie—when after blocking a Boston shot for the net, he passed to veteran Mush March, who sped unmolested down the ice to score in the last minute of play.

Leafs Hope to Have Kennedy Back Saturday

Loss of Ted (Teeder) Kennedy has just about filled to overflowing the cup of sorrow the management of Toronto Maple Leafs has been drinking in large gulps all season.

Kennedy aggravated an old hand injury in Saturday's contest with Montreal Canadiens. The 18-year-old centre, one of the smartest stick-handlers in the league and a protege of Nels (Ol' Poison) Stewart, is the leading scorer on the Toronto club, tied for sixth place in the standing with Ab Demarco, of New York Rangers. Only Montreal's Rocket Richard, with 44, has scored more goals this season than Kennedy, who has 23, the same number as Toe Blake, of Canadiens.

Coupled with the earlier loss of Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, Kennedy's injury leaves Leafs in a riddled condition and their double reverse last week-end stretched their current losing streak to four games.

Day said he hopes to have the smooth centre back in time for the club's next game Saturday against Rangers at Toronto.

Many Rookies Will Report to Baseball Camps This Season

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—At least 112 rookies, a total comparable to the last three wartime seasons, will report at the eight training camps of American League teams next month.

Heading the list of those most likely to succeed is Boris (Babe) Martin, who won the American Association's most valuable player award by batting .350 with Toledo last season. Martin is one of 11 rookies the champion St. Louis Browns have acquired. He'll seek an outfield berth.

The Browns, too, have probably the most colorful rookie in the new crop in Pete Gray (nee Peter Wyshner), one-armed star of Memphis Chicks last year. Despite his handicap, Gray hit 21 doubles, nine triples and five homers last season. In one game he stole four bases off Al Treichel, Chicago White Sox rookie pitcher.

Hal Cooper Stars As Hershey Bears Defeat Cleveland

HERSHEY, Pa., Feb. 21 (AP)—The Hershey Bears tonight rolled up an 8-3 victory over the Cleveland Barons to improve their chances of landing a place in the play-offs for the American Hockey League title.

Hal Cooper, right-winger for the Bears, scored three goals to spark his teammates to the impressive win over Cleveland, now leading the Western Division of the league.

Other Hershey scorers were Shabaga, with 2, and Gooden, Ritson and O'Neill. Goal-getters for Cleveland were Trudel, Prokop and Cunningham.

EDMONTON HOCKEY

EDMONTON, Feb. 21 (CP)—Canadians took a one-game lead in their best-of-five series for the Edmonton Junior Hockey League title, defeating Edmonton Athletic Club, 8-0, here tonight. Canadiens had the best of play throughout the game.

Top scorer in American hoop circles, Bishop is one of a galaxy of basketball stars scheduled to appear in the two-day tournament. Seattle Colored Bombers and Fort Lewis Warriors will meet in the first game on opening night, with Seattle Alpine Dairy and Pat Bay Gremlins battling in the nightcap. Victoria Roofing Wins City League Cage Title

Defeats Tommy Tuckers, 35-26, in Crucial Battle—Comets and St. Louis College Triumph

Turning in an improved performance over their recent showings, Victoria Roofing won the Senior "B" championship by downing Tommy Tuckers, 35-26, at the High School gymnasium last night in the feature contest of the triple basketball card. Bob Whyte's Comets will carry an eight-point lead into the last game of their semi-final round as a result of their 38-29 win over the Eaglettes in the opener. The surprising St. Louis College five upset the K.V.'s, 27-25, in the first of their two-game series for the right to meet the Eagles for the Intermediate "B" title.

Joe Travis and Gar Taylor led the Roofers in a first-quarter drive in which they completely outplayed Tuckers and built up a nine-point advantage. From there on there was little doubt of the outcome as the winners dominated the backboard and kept the Cafemen away from the basket.

Tuckers seldom threatened seriously and the closest they could get to their opponents after the first period was seven points. Checked closely all the way through by the Roofers, they failed to display any of their usual drive. Billy Duncan and Clerence Uitke, their two high-scoring forwards, were unable to lose their checks and were held to a total of six points. Chuck Chapman, sinking all of his free shots, led the losers with seven points.

Fighting hard and showing a better team spirit, Roofing were full value for their triumph. Speedy Joe Travis had a big night and came up with 14 points to pace his club. George Harknett, while failing to score a point, was one of their most effective players, holding Billy Duncan, league scoring leader, to one basket.

Roofing, by virtue of their win, will sit on the sidelines while Tuckers battle it out with the strong Services in the semi-final round.

Maroons Beat Leafs as Former Hockey Greats Perform Again

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP)—The 1935 edition of the old Montreal Maroons administered a thumping 6-3 defeat tonight to the Toronto Maple Leafs, 1932 vintage, in a Navy League of Canada benefit game before 12,844 fans.

To Lift Racing Ban As Soon as Possible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—James F. Byrnes said today that the ban on racing has saved 19,000 miles of leased wire circuits.

The war mobilization director's disclosure was made upon receipt of a report from Paul A. Porter, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Meanwhile, Mr. Byrnes wrote Representative William B. Barry (Democrat, New York) that the racing ban will be "withdrawn at the earliest possible moment consistent with the prosecution of the war," but indicated that now is not the time to do so.

Trotters Beat Fort Lewis by Single Point

TACOMA, Feb. 21 (AP)—Duke Cumberland's three field goals in the final two minutes of play enabled the barnstorming Harlem Globetrotters to come from behind and score a 46-45 victory over the Fort Lewis Warriors in their basketball game here tonight before a crowd of 4,000.

The Trotters led throughout the first half leaving the floor at the intermission with a 23-18 edge, but the Warriors finally erased the deficit and moved ahead at 43-30 with only three minutes left only to fall behind when Cumberland dunked three quick ones.

Gale Bishop, of the Warriors, former Washington State College star, took high point honors with 20, boosting his season's total, high for the nation, to 860 in 37 games.

NOVIKOFF SOLD

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—Lou Novikoff, outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, has been purchased by Los Angeles. President Don Stewart of the Angels said it was a cash sale but the price was not disclosed.

Novikoff went to the Cubs from Los Angeles in 1940, had contract difficulties there, was sent to Milwaukee and recalled after winning the American Association batting crown. He hit .287 with the Cubs last season.

May Cancel World Series This Year

Government Decree Calls on All Sports to Curtail Travel—All-Star Game Is Off

By GUS HAM
Associated Press Sport Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The 1945 World Series may be canceled, the annual All-Star major league game is definitely out, and all American sports will have to curtail their travel sharply as a result of a Government decree today.

The action, which took the form of a "request" by the Office of Defence Transportation, was addressed initially to baseball, which was asked to cut its travel by 25 per cent, as compared to 1944.

But the O.D.T. is formulating an over-all "home field" policy which is expected to cut out at least one-fourth of all passenger miles traveled by athletic teams, amateur and professional.

Some intersectional football games and basketball contests apparently will go by the board.

However, the action came as somewhat of a relief to those baseball fans who had been fearing outright cancellation of the game in 1945. It tends to give the game a sort of lease on life on a clarified basis, provided the O.D.T. "requests" are observed.

Here are the four ways in which baseball was asked to cut its travel:

1. Games will be played only in the home city of one or other of the competing teams. Exhibition games on neutral fields will be canceled except those played at army and navy establishments where the military will provide transportation. Pre-season training will continue to be held in or near the home city of each team.

2. Team rosters, when traveling, will be reduced to a minimum.

3. The World Series games will be held only if transportation and war conditions at the time permit.

4. All clubs will re-examine their schedules and make such further transportation savings as are possible.

Major league leaders "voluntarily pledged full co-operation" with the Government conservation program in a conference with Col. J. Monroe Johnson, O.D.T. director.

Ford Frick, National League, and Will Harridge, American League, baseball's official two-man committee, went over the situation with Col. Johnson and said they were "very well pleased with the whole thing."

Broda Favorite With Hockey Fans In Old Country

BRIGHTON, England, Feb. 21 (CP)—This world-renowned seaside city has become wartime England's hockey capital.

Well-known stars of Canadian and American teams are good drawing cards with the Brighton fans. Big, rugged R. O. (Red) Hamill, who scored 28 goals for the Chicago Black Hawks two seasons ago, is a tower of strength on the Sussex Tigers defence and his performances give his wife and youngsters back at Leaside, Ont., something of which to be proud.

"Bud" Poile and Turk Broda, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, are great favorites. One of the finest come-backs to hockey form has been Cpl. Polly Drouin, of Ottawa, who helped the Ottawa Commandos win the Allan Cup.

Eddie Barnabe, of Hull, Que., of intercollegiate and Big Four Rugby fame, is trying out with one of the reinforcement units teams.

Mainlanders Will Meet Victoria in Hockey Play-Offs

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21 (CP)—Vancouver captured the Lower Mainland juvenile hockey championship in spite of dropping a 2-1 decision to New Westminster last night. The Vancouverites won the first game, 5-2, and the total-goal series, 6-3.

Walton McGuire and Bailey were the Royal City marksmen, with Bailey sniping the lone Vancouver tally.

The winner will meet the Victoria juveniles in the early part of March for the Pacific Coast title and right to meet the Interior champions in the provincial play-offs.

Has Final Word

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, who never has been known as a prohibitionist, had the last word today in a House of Commons tilt with Lady Astor over whether Britain's pubs would be allowed to take the lid off on "V" Day.

"The drink trade is already making plans to get our men drunk on the very day when we should all be on our knees thanking God for victory," [illegible] said.

"I really think those misgivings are very much exaggerated," Mr. Churchill replied. "Of course Lady Astor is very much inclined to be [illegible] points."

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

OUTSIDE the X-ray room of a Canadian military hospital a number of patients in hospital uniforms were awaiting their turn and conversation sprang up among them. One of them groused: "Nothing but waiting in line in this blankety-blank army." "You're right, chum," agreed another, "it was the same thing in the last war and it'll be the same in the war after the next. When I get out of this nobody'll ever get a uniform on me again. I wonder how the regulars stick." At this point one of them noticed a rather elderly man waiting in the corner of the room and he hailed him: "Say, Pop, how long have you been in the army?" "Thirty-four years," replied the elderly gent. "Gee, they damn well ought to have made you a general by now," observed the soldier. "They damn well have," replied the divisional officer commanding.

Russian Music Featured at York

"Song of Russia," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film which pays tribute to the magnificent courage of the Russian people, opens today at the York Theatre, with Robert Taylor starred and Susan Peters in the leading supporting role. Taylor portrays a young American symphony conductor on tour in the Soviet Union.

The screenplay of "Song of Russia" presents an authentic picture of the Russian people and [illegible] shortly before and after the Nazi invasion of July, 1941. In thrilling scenes it reveals the guerilla tactics which proved so successful against the Axis forces. Back of it all lies the simplicity, love of the soil and the worship of music that is so much a part of the people of Russia. The story's action centres around the love, romance and marriage of Taylor to a Russian girl who, after the Nazi's attack, is torn between love for her husband, her family and her native land.

"Song of Russia has great Tschaikowsky music with a 150-piece symphony orchestra conducted by Albert Coates.

RIO THEATRE Walter Wanger's "Gung Ho!" Universal's exciting picture about the incredible adventures of American Marines liquidating all Japs on Makin Island—in the middle of a Japanese archipelago, will end tonight at the Rio Theatre.

Star-Studded Film at Atlas

Warner Bros.' most spectacular musical hit, "Hollywood Canteen," will open today at the Atlas Theatre. "Hollywood Canteen" is a moving, amusing story of two war veterans (Bob Hutton and Dane Clark), and the love they find on the winged hours of a week-end pass. Staged in an exact duplicate of the "Hollywood Canteen," the [illegible] Robert Hutton and Joan Leslie, Carmen Cavallaro and his orchestra, Donald Woods, the Golden Gate Quartet, Rosario and Antonio, and the Sons of the Pioneers supply the latest hit tunes.

Technicolor Hit Is Exciting Racing Story

Another great story has been made into an outstanding picture. It is "Home in Indiana," 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor film based on The Saturday Evening Post story, "The Phantom Filly," by George Agnew Chamberlain. "Home in Indiana" comes tonight to the Cadet Theatre. It tells an unusual story of young love set against the background of flashing hoofs, pounding hearts and thrilling moments of Grand Circuit racing. The featured cast of the film includes Walter Brennan, Lon McCallister, Jeanne Crain, Charlotte Greenwood and June Haver.

Wants Benefit Association's Officer Removed

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21 (CP)—The present manager (C. R. Duffield) of Employees' Mutual Benefit Association should resign or be discharged, Robert Sanderson, former member of a Boeing Union Advisory Board to E.M.B.A., today told the commission enquiring into sickness and accident benefit societies.

His dissatisfaction with the management of the association was mainly due to the close connection between Employees' Mutual Benefit Association and Seaboard Investment Co., of which Mr. Duffield is president, Mr. Sanderson said.

Evidence at the morning session showed that Mr. Duffield is president and controlling shareholder in Seaboard Investments, Ltd., and controlling shareholder in Preferred Investments, Ltd. Both companies hold contracts with E.M.B.A. to act as sole agents for the association on the Mainland and Vancouver Island.

Mr. Duffield disclosed during the morning session that the monthly revenue of the E.M.B.A. during 1944 averaged between $20,000 and $24,000, received from a membership of "between 8,000 and 9,000." He added that claims paid out each month averaged $10,000 during the past year.

Questioned by Dugald McAlpine, commission counsel, in reference to salaries and bonuses received by officers and employees of the E.M.B.A., Mr. Duffield stated that the Vancouver sales manager receives a salary of $300 a month plus a bonus of 25 cents on each new application obtained over each one-month period. No bonuses are paid for renewals, he said.

The claims adjuster in Vancouver gets $200 a month with no bonus on sales, and the remaining office staff, composed of clerks and stenographers, receive salaries ranging from $75 to $120 monthly, Mr. Duffield stated.

The manager of the Victoria branch office receives a salary of $100 a month plus a commission on business transacted.

Y.P. Organizations

St. John's A.Y.P.A. met recently in the rectory of St. John's Church, with Miss Juanita Perkins in charge of the opening Scripture. Miss Marjorie Cooper was introduced and welcomed by the president, Margery Symonds. A short business meeting was held, after which Rev. G. Biddle spoke briefly to the members and an interesting open discussion was held. Next meeting will be in the form of a "work night." On Easter Monday, April 2, the Victoria and District Local Council will sponsor a dance in the Upper Crystal Garden.

Annual Meeting Of Island W.M.S.

Representatives of eight senior auxiliaries attended the 31st annual meeting of the Victoria Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday, with Mrs. J. A. Kennedy presiding. The conference continues today.

The sum of $1,375.54 was sent to the general fund during 1944, Mrs. [illegible] at the opening session. Total membership on Vancouver Island was 194, of which 72 were Home Helpers. Largest contributor was the St. Andrew's Auxiliary with $786 sent in to the treasurer, of which $334 was contributed by the Home Helpers.

"The Victoria Chinese Auxiliary," she said, "have 16 members and have completed an interesting year." They have sent $50 to the general fund, she said, and $35 to the Medical Aid for China Fund. Mrs. Peasland said that the Erskine-Gorge Auxiliary had had the best year in its history and had spent much time studying the need for distribution of Christian literature in the Far East and Tibet and Mongolia. This auxiliary sent $82 to the general fund and $40 to the supply fund.

The secretary also described the work of Nanaimo, Duncan, Port Alberni, Sooke and other auxiliaries and affiliated members.

Special mention of the kindergarten classes was made by Miss Gertrude Scott in her report on Chinese work. Some 35 children attended throughout the year, and Miss Lee and Miss Scott called for most of them daily at their homes. Under Mrs. Chow Young, the Senior Women's Auxiliary and the young women had held knitting meetings regularly and had contributed $38 to Chinese War Relief and $35 to Medical Aid for China.

Mrs. F. R. Moore reported on the executive committee.

Guest speaker at the evening session was Miss Ellen Douglas, Vancouver, who told of the work in India, where she had been a missionary for more than ten years.

"The day of Christian missions is just beginning to dawn," she stated, and urged people at home to pray for success of the work. "The responsibility is not all on those who are in the Orient."

Increasing difficulties facing the missionaries, she said, was the political turmoil and the two strong non-Christian groups, Hindus and Mohammedans. Miss Douglas declared there was a need for more workers.

Mrs. J. A. Kennedy presided at the evening meeting, and Miss Isabel Scott gave the devotional. Greetings were presented by Rev. J. L. W. McLean, of St. Andrew's Church, and Rev. Walter Ross, moderator of presbytery. Mrs. W. O. Gourlie, Vancouver, provincial president, sent good wishes.

Reports of the girls' organizations were given by Mrs. H. Fulton, who said one new group had been formed in Nanaimo. Mrs. H. Warren spoke of Young Women's Auxiliaries. Miss Kay Paulin contributed a solo, and Rev. T. H. McAllister read the closing prayer.

Raid Precautions To Be Maintained

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21 (CP)—Red Cross precautions against enemy raids on British Columbia will be maintained on the advice of the Government through the A.R.P., E. W. Hamber, retiring president of the British Columbia division, says in his 1944 report, to be submitted to the annual meeting here tomorrow.

Mr. Hamber is relinquishing the presidency after three years in office because of new duties as chancellor of the University of British Columbia.

"Though the danger of enemy raids has been somewhat alleviated," first aid equipment, blankets and medical supplies housed throughout the province will be held "in anticipation of any situation that might arise," his report says.

"Until the authorities so advise us, there will be no relaxation of the disaster committee."

Mr. Hamber reports that the British Columbia division stands in third place in Canada in raising money, the number of articles shipped overseas and other Red Cross activities.

Total receipts for war and peacetime work were $1,554,565.48 and total disbursements $1,428,691.46.

Blood donations increased approximately 100 per cent from 17,317 to 34,645 in 1944.

Women's War Work Committee has made purchases totalling $100,755.50 and have shipped and in storage 1,159,558 articles.

Normally in medieval drama all parts were taken by men, though in France there are records of women on the stage prior to 1550.

Wives Learn Canadian Ways

More than 20 overseas wives attended the opening "get acquainted" [illegible] sponsored by the auxiliaries to the navy, army and force and held yesterday at the B.C. Electric office, Douglas Street.

The young women were welcomed by Mr. Barry P. German, president of the naval auxiliary, and then [illegible] a film showing the nutritive values of foods and buying [illegible]

Miss M. A. Fowler of the B.C. Electric Railway Company then conducted a cooking demonstration during which she prepared a meat casserole, lemon pudding and fluff biscuits, interspersing her talk with memories of her early days in Canada.

The new residents [illegible] and charming and not [illegible] different from an average group of Canadian girls, listened closely and asked questions. One or two anxiously warned the instructress that the biscuits "must be done." The meal was cooked in a model kitchen in which shining white units of stove, sink, frigidaire and storage cabinets were placed compactly together.

Following the class another film, showing British Columbia scenes, was shown by Mr. T. Milburn.

Three little tots who came with their mothers were cared for by Mrs. J. Anderson of the Naval Auxiliary. They were John Ball, Ann Wadsworth and Baby Mary Diane Alton. The latter is the daughter of a charming English girl from Brighton whose husband was killed in Normandy last August.

Classes will be held each Wednesday and will include talks on various phases of life in Canada. Wives may bring their young children who will be cared for in an adjoining room.

Plan Labor Lobby

A proposal that a labor legislative lobby be organized was made at a meeting of Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council last night. Organization will commence with a delegate conference on Sunday afternoon at the Boilermakers' Hall. All members of organized labor unions were invited to attend.

Charles Chivers was appointed a member of the advisory committee of the Emergency Shelter Administration.

Lengthy discussion was held on the alleged laxity of enforcement of Compensation Board regulation with the result that a motion was passed asking that a full-time Compensation Board inspector be appointed for Lower Vancouver Island to improve safety precautions in local industries.

More than $17 was collected from the attendance towards the civic [illegible] fund. [illegible] W. Marshall urged that all unions of the city support the drive. W. McLaughlin and Charles Davis were named delegates to the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference.

Shelter Office Busy

The Emergency Shelter Administration has interviewed a total of 1,017 persons in the four days it has been functioning, and increasing numbers of persons are applying for permission to change their dwelling places.

A service wives' housing committee has sent a delegation to learn the regulations, it was revealed yesterday at the office in the Belmont Building.

A total of 359 local residents have been authorized to move and 85 applications have been deferred. Seven [illegible] licences to allow persons [illegible] seek accommodation have been granted, while 61 people have been permitted to take up family accommodation and 28 permits [illegible] into the district have been issued.

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.

Burdock Blood Bitters helps to cleanse the blood and with the blood cleansed the complexion should clear up.

Crown Plant Production Head Testifies at Forest Inquiry

Adequate control of the fire menace, research into methods of utilization, and provision of opportunity for companies or operators to work land on a sustained yield basis, were listed as immediate steps necessary in a forest program by J. E. Liersch, production manager of the Crown-owned Aero Timbers, Ltd., before the British Columbia Forest Inquiry yesterday.

Predicting that there will be no tremendous cut on the Coast in the postwar years, Mr. Liersch said that it would be possible to maintain the average cut of the past ten years indefinitely under a proper program. He expressed himself strongly in favor of a sustained yield policy but warned that while a start should be made towards this goal, it will require a good many years to attain.

A [illegible] forest inventory to provide specific information about forests was advocated by the head of the Forestry Branch of the University of British Columbia, who was called from that post by the Government to assume his present position with Aero Timbers, Ltd.

An absolute minimum on regulations and a free hand for the operators was called for by Mr. Liersch, who suggested certain basic requirements that must be filled by loggers to avoid penalties. An example of these penalties, he said, would be a deposit of $15 an acre to guarantee regeneration, this to be used by the Government in the event that the logger failed to practise regeneration.

His ideas on fire protection were outlined for Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, Royal Commissioner, as more supervision for areas, more adequate lookout towers, trails throughout the forests, better roads to move fire-fighting equipment, aerial patrols and paratroopers to fight fires in remote places.

SPEAKER MENTIONS EDUCATION OF PUBLIC

Possibility of putting 100 per cent of the money received from forests back into the industry to correct mistakes made in the past until a sustained yield basis has been reached was advanced by the witness. He said there was a large field for education of the public along forestry ideas.

D. N. Hossie, representing the Crown Grant Commission of British Columbia Loggers, suggested in his examination of the witness that the major interest of everyone connected with the inquiry was to see that the forests of British Columbia are regenerated.

Working circles, compartments and cutting methods are secondary problems and should follow after the steps needing immediate attention were mastered, Mr. Liersch said. He warned that the program cannot be left much longer, "or we will be too late." An unrestricted cutting program for the next 15 years was possible, the witness believed.

Support of the sustained yield program and selective logging was voiced by O. H. Walton, veteran Victoria lumberman, in his testimony. Necessity of higher taxation for an adequate forestry service was seen by the witness, who said that he did not see why the industry should not pay this cost. Responsibility for plans for proper cutting and natural regeneration should be on the logger, he said.

British Columbia is too far behind now to catch up to a sustained yield program, Dalton Elder, Muir Creek logger, told the commission. He said that if the cut of normal size timber was restricted, the mills would use smaller logs.

More hemlock could be taken off the ground at prices paid in the United States, Mr. Elder said. He testified that he had exported mainly hemlock logs previously, but had not done so for two years.

He stated that under proper guidance the guild will provide a strong nucleus of trained personnel that will be able to step into any situation with no initial delay.

Violet Wilson Speaks On Life in Far North

Camp life at Norman Wells was described by Miss Violet Wilson during a joint luncheon meeting of Victoria Music Teachers' Association and the local branch of the Canadian Authors Association in Spencer's dining-room yesterday. Miss Wilson recently returned from 15 months' service as matron and camp hostess of Norman Wells, attached to the Canol project in the McKenzie River district.

Miss Wilson had charge of 100 girls who acted as cooks, waitresses and office workers. She said that the girls ate and worked with male employees, of which there were about 1,000.

She said that although the temperature went as low as 62 degrees below zero the cold was not noticed as buildings were centrally heated and warm clothing was worn.

Miss Wilson was greatly impressed by the grandeur of the Northern Lights and the colors reflected on the McKenzie Mountains by the sunrises and sunsets. She said that the forests were filled with great clumps of wild orchids, and wild Iceland poppies grew on the mountain.

Miss Wilson said that children in the North pay no attention to aeroplanes, but so seldom see cars or trucks they are either frightened or delight in riding around in them.

A. H. Sutherland of the Canadian Authors' Association, tendered a vote of thanks.

To Name Officers

City and District

Wants Tree Removed—P. J. Martin, 332 Stannard Avenue, yesterday asked the city to remove a tree in front of his property at 1336 Richardson Street. Other trees on the street needed removal or trimming, he stated.

Land for Indians — Sale of 120 acres west of Puntzi Lake, Chilcotin area, to the Dominion for Indian purposes has been approved by the Cabinet, which by order in council lifted the reserve on the desired land.

Timber Sale—Following application by Oscar Norden to purchase 160 acres containing 2,532,000 board feet of spruce in the Prince George area, the Cabinet by order in council has canceled the reserve on the acreage. The timber is needed for a sawmill to be located in that area, which is part of the land set aside for the Dominion to use for rehabilitation purposes if it desires.

Liquor Charges—William M. Sinclair and Frank F. White, charged with purchasing liquor under a false name and Louis R. Dafoe, charged with unlawfully having liquor in an automobile, were remanded until this morning when they appeared in Esquimalt police court yesterday morning. Sinclair pleaded not guilty and White pleaded guilty. Dafoe changed his plea from not guilty to guilty.

Remanded Again — Johnson Johnny James, Indian cannery worker, was remanded in Provincial Police court yesterday for the third time on a charge of murdering Clarence George John Dick on West Saanich Indian Reserve last month. The case will begin next Wednesday. Robert D. Harvey, Crown prosecutor, spoke on behalf of C. F. Davie, K.C., defence counsel who was unable to leave Duncan.

Decoration Day—Mayor Perry E. George yesterday recommended appointment of Alderman W. H. Davies and Alderman F. A. Willis as a special committee to make arrangements for observance of Decoration Day in Victoria on Easter Sunday. He also recommended that the aldermen be given authority to organize and serve on a citizens' committee with representatives of adjoining municipalities and of servicemen's organizations to make arrangements for the day in Greater Victoria.

Board Estimates Higher at Duncan

DUNCAN, Feb. 21.—A special meeting of the Duncan City Council was held on Monday night for the purpose of considering Consolidated School Board estimates for the current year. The ordinary estimates for 1945 are $15,233, against $10,842 for the previous year. The council has asked the school board for a joint meeting to discuss the situation.

The North Cowichan Council, which is required to raise a still larger proportion of the school tax, has rejected the school demand.

The city council also took under advisement the grant which has hitherto been made towards civil defence, and as there does not appear to be any further use for the organization, the matter of continuing the grant will be taken up with the local civil defence group.

City Police Court

Aubrey H. Andrew pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to a charge of having liquor in a cafe at 609 Blanshard Street and Gordon Manuel, similarly charged, was found guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall. Each was fined $50 with one-month sentences in default of payment.

Manuel was represented by Patrick J. [illegible]. Police evidence was given by Sgt. Thomas Banister and Constable Raymond Maitland.

Warrants for two Chinese who have now vacated condemned premises were ordered withdrawn. A motorist was fined $10 for speeding in a school zone, another paid $5 for not having a driver's licence, and three each paid $2.50 parking fines.

Stresses Security

Great need for security in Victoria with the increasing participation of Great Britain and the Empire in the Pacific War was stressed by a former member of the Intelligence Corps to Esquimalt Dockyard Branch No. 172, Canadian Legion, during a meeting in Stone Frigate Hall last night.

Branch members were urged to do their part in curtailing loose talk that might lead to many disasters directly affecting the people of a [illegible].

Nominations for 1945 officers were accepted and additional names may be added during the next two weeks. Elections will be at the general meeting on March 21. K. G. Slade and C. V. Gilbert were nominated for president with J. W. R. Mallerby as first vice-president and S. G. Haines as second vice-president.

To Inspect Road on Industrial Reserve

Postponing a decision yesterday on improvements to Kimta Road on the Industrial Reserve the city public works committee decided to look at the road in question today. Representatives of Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd., Sweeney Cooperage Ltd., and Union Oil Co. Ltd., outlined the desired improvement.

The committee also plans to inspect possible sites for Crescent Show Ltd. for presentation of a proposed fair week carnival here in May, Alderman Edward Williams, chairman, reported.

Island Tug & Barge Ltd. will be asked for a contract figure for towing garbage to sea. The city's contract with the company will expire at the end of the month.

City firemen attended a false alarm at the corner of Langford and Russell Streets at 8 o'clock last night.

Film Forum Presents "Our Enemy, Japan"

A film depicting the military strength and production of war materials of Japan was presented last night at the fourth public film forum at the Y.W.C.A., under the sponsorship of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Victoria Public Library and the National Film Board.

The film, [illegible] Japan," dealt with the story of a fanatical enemy, and its wealth and resources. It showed the training of young children for Japan's military needs, and Japanese home industries which are the backbone of the country.

A discussion led by Frank Hunter as to what should be done with Japan, was held at the finish of the film. A film of African animals was also presented.

Assault Case Before Court

Denial of statements that he had held Mrs. Mary Gordienko by the shoulder and used abusive language before a fight began on Pandora Avenue on the morning of January 1, was made by Constable Carl Carlson in city police court yesterday at the conclusion of the trial of Melvin Paton and Leonte Gordienko on a charge of assaulting him.

Noting there was marked difference in evidence given by various witnesses during the trial, Magistrate H. C. Hall decided to reserve decision until next Monday. Trial of the two sailors on a similar charge involving Constable Raymond Maitland will then be started.

Concluding their defence, Gordienko and Paton, who have continued their case without counsel since the death of Stuart Henderson, gave their own statements. Gordienko said he met Paton on Broad Street before one o'clock that morning and had several drinks with him on the street and in a cafe. He stated there was a row with another sailor. Eventually, he recalled, the two of them, with two other sailors and Mrs. Gordienko, went to the rear of the Douglas Hotel. Going to summon a taxi, she went to the head of the lane there and then called for him, Gordienko testified, adding that when he had run to within four feet he heard Constable Carlson call her an abusive name.

"I took a poke at him," Gordienko said. "Skillings, a civilian, came from across the street and I took a poke at him, too. Then the constable hit me over the head with his stick." After the arrival of Maitland he remembered only the naval shore patrol handcuffing him and putting him in the wagon. He declared he had not seen Paton after going up to his wife.

Mentioning the earlier scuffle with a sailor, Paton said, "That is how I got bruises on the side of my face." He declared he was on the ground by a woodpile behind the hotel throughout the fight.

Retired Officer Dies in Hospital

Frederick George Peck, 72, a Victoria city police constable for 21 years until he was superannuated on May 31, 1939, and a veteran of the Boer War and the First Great War, died at noon yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital after several weeks' illness. Funeral service will be held at McCall Bros. Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon followed by cremation.

Before coming to Victoria 34 years ago, he served for 17 years in the 2nd Manchester Regiment as a corporal in India, Africa and Egypt, taking part in the South African campaign. He joined the city police on April 22, 1918, after serving overseas in the 62nd Battery. In February, 1932, he was appointed Beacon Hill Park officer and held that position until retirement. In the park he was a favorite with children.

He was born in Devonshire, England, on November 24, 1872.

Beside his widow, Mary, at 1401 Chambers Street, he leaves a niece, Mrs. Charles H. Lewis, and a nephew, John W. Richmond, both of Victoria.

Saanich Wants Cut in Electric Light Rates

A brief asking that electric light rates be reduced in certain areas of Saanich outside the three-mile circle, was presented yesterday to A. T. Goward, vice-president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Co., Ltd., by members of the Saanich [illegible] committee, headed by Councillor George Austin.

The brief advocated that the 2-cent suburban rate, in excess of 240 kilowatt hours, be reduced to 1 cent, and that the city rates within the three-mile circle, be extended to include the new development in urban Saanich, including Garden City, Colquitz, North Quadra, Cedar Hill, Cadboro Bay, and the Ten Mile Point area.

Mr. Goward was informed that Saanich thought it was being discriminated against, in that Coquitlam, Pitt Meadows, Maple Ridge and other districts all had rate structures including the third rate of 1 cent. The greatest consumers of electricity in Saanich, namely the farmers, were also being discriminated against, the brief maintained, in view of the fact they had to pay approximately double the rates charged similar consumers in Mainland districts with whom they were in competition.

A concrete example was presented in which it was shown that farmers of Saanich for ten months of last year paid $842 for electric services. The difference between this and the rates suggested would be a saving to Saanich farmers of $386, the brief claimed.

It was also disclosed in the brief that the three-mile circle was centred from the City Hall, instead of the Bay Street substation. Mr. Goward was asked to consider the brief, and make recommendations to the Public Utilities Commission.

Postwar Problems Of World Linked

Problems of Canada were closely linked with those of the world, and all postwar planners should bear that in mind, Fergus McKean, provincial leader of the Labor Progressive party, told a meeting of party members last night at 1110 Broad Street.

Predicting that a Federal election would be held in June and that a large block of labor representatives would be elected across Canada, the speaker outlined the programs of practically all political parties of the country.

He advocated that labor stay out of politics, but at the same time use its influence to see that the right government was established. Speaking of the manpower situation overseas, Mr. McKean maintained there never had been a shortage, but that certain political powers had made an issue of the matter for their own interests.

The preservation of peace in the world depended solely on the co-operation of the United States, Great Britain and Russia, he stressed in outlining the important role Canada would play in the postwar period due to her geographical and economic position.

WENT TO a movie last nite, and this gal had 3 pretty good looking guys in her life but she married the one with the big mouth, but the poor dear (the dame I mean) could never quite decide if she liked being settled down, and having a baby and stuff, so one nite she goes back to her old life in the Nite Spots, 'cause the other guy was back in town. She was really asking for trouble wasn't she, and the gee I got to thinking if I was married to a wench like that, what I'd do to her??? I think I'd give her the d— soundest spanking she ever got in her life, and then I'd step out on her . It was a swell show, though, especially the ending.

WANT SOME SWANK in a bedroom suite? Brother this is it. . . think the fellow who designed it must have been rather the dignified type.

Freed U.S. Army Officer Tells Of Life in Nazi Prison Camps

By LT. JOHN N. DIMLING, JR.

(U.S. Army officer, of Winston-Salem, N.C., captured a year ago on the Anzio beachhead in Italy and freed by the Red Army drive through Poland, where he was held with other Americans in a Nazi prison camp.)

Copyright, 1945, by The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Feb. 20 (Delayed) (AP).—One year ago I was in no-man's land outside of Anzio beachhead when a German counter-attack cut me off and I was taken prisoner. It was a mighty tough moment.

But last month sitting in a blacked-out Polish farmhouse behind what was the enemy's lines, I had the thrill of my 30-year life. Off in the distance a bunch of us American officers who had eluded German guards that morning could hear the rumble of tanks.

A Polish farmer burst into the room where we were lying low. "Russky, Russky," he yelled. I don't know when news like that could ever sound better. Then and there Marshal Zhukov became our favorite army commander.

Soon a Russian tanker poked his head in for a few seconds' chat with our senior officer.

The Russian through our interpreter said he was very pleased to see us, shook hands all around, whipped out a bottle of vodka and proposed a toast to our common victory. We offered him cigarettes.

"Got to keep going to Berlin," he said in Russian as he saluted goodbye.

FINDS RUSSIANS HATE GERMANS

I've never met a better type of rough and ready soldier than the Red Army fighting men. All of them hate the Germans worse than anything else in the world, and all of them are determined to get to Berlin just as fast as humanly possible.

Liberation by the Red Army ended what had been one year of modified hell for me. You can't realize what freedom means to you until you lose it. The Germans in handling American prisoners had thought of many ways, large and small, to harrass us. They did as little as possible for us. Rations they provided would have broken us by starvation if it hadn't been for Red Cross parcels.

[illegible] Army ever saw Rome the Germans marched me and hundreds of other prisoners from Anzio through the Eternal City in a parade designed to humiliate Allied arms in the eyes of the wavering Italians.

Believe it or not, but some of the Italians furtively gave us the "V" sign. Some of us sang "Heigh Ho, Methusaleh" to keep up our spirits and we named the whole thing "our victory."

On the other side the Germans reloaded us in trucks and off we went to spend seven weeks in a modern black hole — a stinking prison camp at Laternia, south of Florence.

The camp had no water supply of its own, and what we used was carted in unpurified from an open stream nearby.

All of us got so weak it was difficult to walk around.

Our senior officer was a British major who protested continually to Germans over camp conditions, but there was no improvement. At last they loaded us on boxcars, 25 prisoners and five guards in each, and shifted us to Moosberg, Bavaria. They took away our shoes and belts to prevent attempts to escape and furnished us only a small loaf of bread, less than a pound of canned beef and one portion of soup per man for the entire journey.

RED CROSS PACKAGE LIKE CHRISTMAS

At Mooseberg we were deloused and handed our first Red Cross package. It was like Christmas. In fact, thereafter the weekly issuance of the Red Cross package was referred to as "Christmas Day."

Another month and they shipped us off to Western Poland to a camp at Szubin once used for the R.A.F.

The worst time at the Szubin camp—Oflag 64—was the seven weeks' stretch late last Autumn when Red Cross parcels stopped coming. Our German ration, which was less than substance level, wasn't increased during this time. I lost 15 or 20 pounds and bigger men lost even more.

A few days after we learned the Russian offensive had started, the Germans gave us 24 hours' notice on January 20 that our camp would be marched afoot into Germany.

It was a bitterly cold Sunday. A stream of refugees, chiefly in wagons, clogged the road. One German woman screamed at us: "It's all your fault."

A day's hike of 12 or 15 miles took us beyond Keynia, or Exin as the Germans called it. There was confusion the next morning when the column resumed its march. Some of us gave the goons the slip.

That night Russian tanks arrived. I don't think any of us could have slept a wink. The Poles brought out food and schnapps. It was a victory party until dawn.

Polish authorities gave us a railway pass to Kutno and a farewell breakfast with the major at Keynia. It was typical of the rest of the journey.

Moscow looked like a paradise.

CLOSE VOTE

MONTREAL, Feb. 21 (CP)—Mr. Justice Charles Duclos in Superior Court today ruled that Eugene A. Boisvert had been elected mayor of Cowansville, Que., in the municipal election February 1, by a vote of 325 to 324, over his opponent, L. Bernard Brault. In the initial count, both contestants polled 322 votes, and the secretary of the village cast the deciding vote in favor of Mr. Brault. Mr. Boisvert appealed for a recount.

Critical of Hydro Plans

Disappointment that the Provincial Government intended "to allow the B.C. Electric to continue to rule the roost while the province takes over most of the little tinpot companies" in its hydro-electric program was expressed by Herbert Gargrave (C.C.F., Mackenzie) yesterday when he spoke in the Legislooked forward to wider discussion of this point later. He suggested the B.C. Electric rual program "tied in beautifully" with the report of the Rural Electrificatinn Committee.

He charged "the whole program of the Government is certainly one of a glorious spending spree," and said that while projected expenditures "are all very worthy and will no doubt be supported by the whole House," many of them "look suspiciously like election bait."

Mr. Gargave said Mackenzie riding, "if not the richest industrial riding, ranks among the highest" with its paper and pulp mills, sawmills, logging camps, fishing grounds, mines and quarries, including undeveloped mineral bodies. It had many Summer resorts, best developed in the province.

With the "tremendously increased industrial development" on Texada Island, roads were inadequate, he stated, and for development to continue they must be improved. Industrial concerns and the people were prepared to co-operate, he said.

He urged completion of the Port Mellon-Gibson's Landing road, and suggested the postwar road program should include roads to both sides of Jervis Inlet, leading to a fery service across the inlet. The "30-year pledge" to Bella Coola Valley of road connection with the interior should be implemented, he said.

He asked for discussion of the labor code, union shop and check-off legislation, and Workmen's Compensation Act, urged opening of "company towns," and appealed for action on the female minimum wage.

Mr. Gargave expressed doubt that the Peace River Highway would ever carry sufficient produce of the Peace block to make it practical from an economic viewpoint, but a railway was essential.

He said the C.C.F. favored dispersal of Japanese through the Dominion rather than permitting their return to the Coast.

Bill Amendments Before Members

Four "message bills" were introduced in the Legislature yesterday. Premier John Hart introduced the Electric Power Bill, Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, an amendment to the Education of Soldiers' Dependent Children Act and Hon. E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands, amendments to the Constitution Act and the Forest Act.

The amendments to the Constitution Act and the Forest Act will not only pave the way for the elevation of the forest branch to full departmental status and its new designation as the Forest Service, but in the case of the Forest Act provide also for an increase in the forest protection fund from $500,000 to $650,000 annually.

Provision is made for the chief forester to be known as the deputy minister of forests. The minister will be the Minister of Lands and Forests.

Other clauses in the Forest Act amendments provide for the British Government or its agent to export pit props or mining timber to Great Britain, and provide for refund of any stumpage and royalty paid in respect of pit props or mining timber used for war purposes.

The amendment to the Education of Soldiers' Dependent Children Act provides not only for assisting the education of children of serv-dren of veterans of the present war, and includes women. In the words of the amendment "'soldier' includes any person, male or female," as far as the act is concerned.

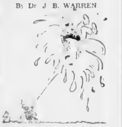
Preventing Attacks Of Epilepsy

By Dr. J. B. WARREN



It has been found that an epileptic attack can be produced in an epileptic by having him drink a large quantity of water and then giving him pitressin to hold this water in the tissues. It is for this reason that one of the methods of preventing an epileptic attack is to cut down on the intake of liquids and so keep the tissues low in water. Other methods are increasing fat foods—butter, cream, fat meat—and decreasing the starch foods—potatoes, bread, sugar.
